CITY PLANNING FOR ELYRIA IS REVIVED BY COUNCILMEN AND LEGISLATION ORDERED

Aldermen Divided, Four to Three on Proposition—Cost Between $8,000 and $10,000 — Council Accused of Delay Because Mayor Would Appoint Commission

ELYRIA—At the instigation of ...ncilman Stark the council at its ...ting last evening decided to re... the City Planning scheme sug...ed by the Chamber of Commerce ...instructed the city solicitor to ...t the necessary legislation.

The council was divided on the ...e, Councilmen Andrus, Hazelton ... Winslow voting against and ...ncilman Stark, Cautle, Halpin ... Tattersall in favor.

Councilmen Andrus and Wins... said they had been invited three ...es to attend city planning con...nces by the Chamber of Com...ce and later told the meetings ... been postponed. Councilmen ...k said he likewise had been in...d three times and twice told ... meeting had been cancelled only ...e informed later that the meet... would be and were held ac...ling to schedule.

The City Planning commission ...nally passed will have a board ...prising the mayor, president of ...park commission, service di... rector and four or five citizens to be appointed by the mayor.

Mayor Jones took the floor and said some of the councilmen were opposed to the city planning because the mayor had the four or five appointments to make The mayor said that as far as he was concerned the appointments could recommended by the councilmen themselves and that he would appoint same. He said that he had no one in mind for the appointments on the board.

It was brought out at the meeting that the city planning scheme will cost the city between $8,000 and $10,000 and some members of the council objected to the commission having the authority to hire engineers and draftsmen and have the work done and the only thing the council had to say in the matter was to pay the bills.

The ordinance providing for the establishing of a city planning commission for Elyria is expected to be ready for threshing out at the next meeting of the city council on Monday, May 2.

Roadhouses Big Handicap to Dry Act Enforcement

COLUMBUS, April 19. — Suburban road houses are the sources of the greatest trouble now confronting federal dry authorities, said United States prohibition commissioner, John F. Kramer, who conferred here with State Prohibition Commissioner Parker and J. A. Shearer, federal dry commissioner, for Ohio. The conferees briefly discussed dry enforcement in a general way.

'YELLOW LINE' FRANCHISE TO COME UP SOON

Councilman John Halpin Says Revised Grant Will be Ready for Action at May 2 Meeting

ELYRIA — The much delayed franchise for the Yellow Line is expected to come up for final disposition at the next meeting of the city council on Monday evening, May 2. Councilman John Halpin says the revised grant will be ready by that time.

The present franchise expired last August and the proposed franchise has been under discussion for over two years, during which time the Yellow Line and the city council have rejected and drafted new grants which were followed by recommendations from the Civic Organization, composed of committees from eight Elyria clubs. Officials of the Yellow Line have been meeting with the Civic Organization and it is now believed that a franchise is in the making and decided upon, which is acceptable to the Yellow Line, the city council and the Civic Organization, which has as its ambition a desire to get a franchise which will adequately serve the needs and conveniences of the citizens during the life of the grant.

The meeting of the council on May 2 is expected to attract the largest gallery in several years. All members of the council agreed to be present if possible. Committees from the Civic Organization are also expected to be in attendance and many citizens along with the Yellow Line officials, are planning on being present to see the matter finally satisfactorily disposed of.

PLAN TO SUB-DIVIDE COUNTIES TO SELECT SENATORS OF STATE

ELYRIA — The house federal relations committee of the legislature at Columbus is considering a proposed amendment to the Archer senate resolution delimiting the state senatorial districts, so that districts embracing a single county and allowed two or more senators in the 1922 election, will be subdivided into districts within the county. This would allow the counties in which large cities are located to divide up the district among so many townships for each senator.

The new plan puts Lorain, Medina and Wayne counties into the seventeenth district. Ash and Richland counties, formerly in this district, are put in the twenty-fourth district with Delaware, Morrow and Knox counties. This would put Senator Endly of Mansfield in a different district than at present.

The new sub-division may not go through when the vote is taken. Lorain and Medina counties are in the Republican column and Wayne county is Democratic There are enough Republicans in the three counties to keep the district Republican.

Protest Against Proposed Sewers

ELYRIA—Verbal protest was filed with the city Council at its meeting last night against the installing of a new sewer on Ninth street. Five or six protests were made, said Council Clerk Dan Symons. All declare that the proposed sewer is unnecessary and that a number of trees would be damaged if the sewer is laid. The council decided to lay the sewer when the present sewer failed to be deep enough to accommodate all residences on the street.

IMPROVING AFTER OPERATION AT HOSPITAL

Mack A. Bentley, employed at the Parkview restaurant was taken to Memorial hospital on Sunday, and was operated on yesterday. Reports today are that he is progressing nicely towards recovery.

COUNCIL INFORMED GREEN LINE BALKS IN INCLUDING NEW TERRITORY IN FARES

Southwestern Electric Company Given Notice of Annexation But Orders Issued to Put Off Passengers Who Won't Pay Two Fares Solicitor to Act

ELYRIA—The city council at its meeting last night took action to demand a show down in the Cleveland-Columbus and Southwestern Electric Co., refusing to recognize annexed territory and insisting on charging two fares for residents who reside outside the old city limits along Lake avenue.

Samuel Wurst, Stop 2, appeared before the council and said that conductors threatened to put him and other residents residing in that vicinity off the car unless they paid two nickel fares, one to the old city limits and the second in the vicinity of the new city boundary on the north.

The matter was referred to the street and steam railroad and the city solicitor for necessary action.

Solicitor Baird said the franchise provides that when new territory is added to the city that this territory should be included in the five cent fare and that the Green line was wrongfully charging residents who previously lived outside the old city limits, but who now reside within the city limits as results of recent annexations two fares.

Should the city win out in its contention of one fare then the residents who have been paying two fares are believed to be entitled to a refund of the extra fare collected. In some cases residents paying two fares are demanding a receipt for the extra fare from the conductor.

Ignores City's Note

Mayor Asaph R. Jones said he has received five or six complaints against the double fare charging and believed that the conditions need immediate action. Mr. Jones said that the Green line had been notified of the new annexation and that a letter from the general offices at Cleveland instructed conductors to insist on collecting two fares

Councilman Tattersall thought that the city solicitor should write the Green line officials and demand immediate action.

"It's all bosh," said Councilman Cautle.

"The Green line has showed its hand by order "Put them off," said Councilman Andrus. "I believe the city should proceed immediately with necessary legal action."

Since new territory was annexed to the city on the north, east and south sides and the city limits in each section extended, members of the council held that residents who came into the city through the annexation legislation are entitled to the single fare of five cents.

No Complaints East and South

No complaints have been filed by residents on the east and south sides as to having been compelled to pay double fares.

Councilmen said the franchise given the Green line a couple of years ago provides that when new territory is annexed to the city that the city fare should automatically extend to include the newly acquired section. Subsequently the contention that no matter how much property is annexed to the city that the one advantage in addition to having the city conveniences of gas, water, improved streets and electricity is the cheaper fare.

City officials believe that the question is of vital importance and means a substantial saving in carfare to persons who reside in the newly acquired territory. Members of the council expressed a willingness to carry the question to the courts unless the Green line immediately lives up to the provisions of the franchise.

COUNCIL PASSES LEGISLATION TO PAVE NUMEROUS HIGHWAYS

ELYRIA—The city council at its meeting Monday night passed legislation providing for the improving of numerous streets at a total expense approximating $150,000 and also considered making other improvements.

The council was divided four for and three against accepting the report of the committee recommending that Chase street be included in the 1922 paving. Councilman Caulte said he understood the recommend would be for paving the street this year and had his name struck off the report as one of the committeemen making the report.

The motion to put the ordinance providing for the paving of Filbert on suspension of the rules was defeated when Caulte voted against the measure. The cost of this street is $18,000 one-third of which the city will pay.

Resolution to pave Cornel avenue was passed.

Middle avenue from 16th street to Oberlin Road and the Oberlin Road to West Avenue is to be paved, both being passed on his third and final reading after the rules had been suspended.

The ordinance providing for $1,000 bond issue to purchase team of horses was tabled when Auditor Guthman said the legislation could not be passed under 60 days by which time the amount could be included in the August budget. Auditor Guthman said this would save the expense of having the bonds printed and advertising.

The matter of paving Chase street was revived and the recommendation of the committee voted down. Now the paving of the street will be included in this year's program. The paving of this street brought about much discussion by members of the council. Resolution providing for the paving of Cornel avenue to the south line was passed. Same legislation was passed for portions of Princeton and Kenyon streets.

SOME COUNCILMEN DON'T THINK THEY WILL SERVE CITY AGAIN

ELYRIA—The matter of the Civic Organization attempting to help the city council solve problems is the same old stuff, said Councilman Andrus

When President Hewitt informed him that they were discussing the water works bond issue and not the proposed Yellow Line franchise Andrus said "The same thing applies."

Councilman Cautle said the Civic Organization was "trying to help the council get into trouble."

"Who started this?" inquired Councilman Halpin.

"Better be careful or you'll be misquoted and then you'll be sore," shouted back President Hewitt

"I'm not sore at anything," ejaculated Councilman Halpin the use of putting anything on the program for next year.

"There won't be any of us here next year," opined Councilman Cautle

"Yes there will", interrupted Councilman Halpin.

Then Halpin and Cautle held a whispering conversation.

President Hewitt and Mayor Jones made reports on the Water Works bond issue of $500,000 and said the matter was receiving approval by city clubs.

Councilman Andrus said that a number of persons came to him and protested against the so-called Civic Organization interrupting with the council taking action on the Yellow Line franchise and the proposed $500,000 additional water works bond issue. He said these citizens told him the citizens elected the councilmen and held them responsible for their acts Councilman Andrus said he coincided with these citizens in protesting against "interference" by Elyria clubs and societies

He asks the court for an absolute divorce.

LEGISLATORS FAIL TO FAVOR DAVIS' CHOICE

COLUMBUS, April 19. — Members of the house yesterday showed Governor Davis that they strenuously object to the appointment of L. J. Tabor or C. A. Dyer, as director of agriculture when the state government is reorganized under the proposed code.

Tabor, one of the best known men in the state, is at the head of the state grange, and a Republican, while Dyer is manager of the farm bureau organization and a member of the Democratic state central committee.

Both men were members of the governor's taxation committee that evolved a proposal for a constitutional amendment repealing the uniform rate of taxation, and their activities aroused the ire of uniform rulers who oppose taxation reforms of this nature.

Some 20 members visited the governor's office yesterday to inform him that the house would refuse to concur in senate amendments to the reorganization bill changing state offices unless the governor gave assurances that either Tabor or Dyer would not be named to cabinet positions. By holding up the concurrence, the bill, which is strenuously opposed by Senator Burke, of Lorain county, would be killed.

It is expected also that if the governor tries to enforce favorable action without giving them an answer reprisals will be undertaken in the house. Governor Davis is confined to the house with an attack of tonsilitis and did not meet the committee.

JURORS MAY HAVE CAUSE FOR GREAT REJOICING

ELYRIA—The state senate yesterday passed a bill raising the pay of grand and petit jurors from $2 to $3 per day. This measure if it becomes a law will be very acceptable to the jurors who are called upon to serve.

Take Lorain county for instance. Many times jurors are called from remote parts of the county and they are unable to return to their homes at night. They are obliged to pay their board here and cannot secure a $2 a day rate for room and meals, and consequently have to pay the difference out of their own pockets. When they are through service they are money out and have served on the jury without receiving enough to pay their bills, practically losing their time Men in factories who are receiving from $3 to $8 per day are many times placed on the jury and have had to serve for $2 per day As a consequence all sorts of excuses are made to the court in order to evade jury service, and it is many times difficult to fill up the panel.

ALLEGE VIOLATION OF THEIR CONTRACT

ELYRIA—The Federated Merchant's Co., of Cleveland, filed suit in court today against Pekras & Sadaris to compel specific compliance with contract

The plaintiffs allege that they leased from the defendants the premises at 354 East Broad street for a period of five years for the purpose of operating a grocery store. They paid the rent of $175 for the month of April, and later mailed a check for $175 for the month of March but defendants refused to accept the letter containing the check The court is asked to enjoin the defendants from interfering with them in the conduct of their business and compel them to accept the money for the rent.

Mayor Jones Fooled Into Believing Fine Would Starve Family

J. V. SHOUP, WHO HAD CHARGE OF TRANSPORTING LIQUOR CHANGED TO DISORDERLY CONDUCT — GIVES MAYOR THE SMILE

ELYRIA—Mayor Asaph R. Jones admitted that J. V. Shoup, 122 Elizabeth street, pulled the best one over on the city magistrate that he has ever encountered.

Shoup was arrested late Saturday night on the charge of transporting liquor. The court was informed that any fine which might be assessed against Shoup would deprive his wife and baby of the necessities of life. Accordingly in sympathy for the family the charge was changed to disorderly conduct.

Mayor Jones took particular pains to lecture to the young man about waywardness in which the family suffered and gave the youth a father-to-son and heart- to-heart lecture.

Then Came the Surprise

"Much obliged," Shoup told the mayor after paying the fine. "My family is well provided for. Look at these and handed the mayor four bulging envelopes.

The mayor's eyes bulged out, his face turned rosy as he fingered the registered liberty bonds in the envelope. One envelope contained $2,500, another $2,300, the third $3,600 and the fourth one $31,000. The total was close to $40,000 varying in bonds of $50, $100, $500 and $1,000, the latter being liberally sprinkled throughout each package.

The mayor rubbed his eyes. Was it a dream? He pinched himself on the wrist. He slapped the other wrist gently and then again more

ELYRIA TO BE BEST LIGHTED IN THE LAND

Survey of Electrical Engineer Shows City Will Have Better Lights at Same Cost Under New System

ELYRIA—The survey made by H. Whitford Jones on electric lighting in this city was submitted and accepted by the city council at its meeting last evening. The report which admits Elyria will be the best lighted city of its size in the nation, is as follows:

Honorable City Council,
Elyria, Ohio.
Gentlemen·

I beg to submit herewith in accordance with your request, report upon the new street lighting system in Elyria. I also submit with same one map showing the general lighting of the entire city; also detailed maps showing the arangements of the ornamental lighting on Broad street and the streets surrounding the park in the center of the city and Middle avenue.

Good street lighting is recoguized as one of the necessary adjuncts of modern civilization. The problem of obtaining economical lighting, which is at the same time effective and attractive is of the greatest importance.

It was not until the recent development of the high efficiency metal filament incandescent lamps, that the system of Tungsten Nitrogen street lighting became practicable and is now being used extensively both for residential and for the business districts of cities. In the latter the Tungsten Nitrogen system combines effective light distribution and artistic appearance.

At the present time there are a large number of arc lamps in operation which are expensive to operate. The new system contemplates the entire elimination of all arc lamps and substituting same with the new Nitrogen lights. Reference to the plans will show these in various candle powers.

The main thoroughfares will have lamps of 600 C. P., with the exception of Middle avenue, which will be lighted on both sides and have lamps of 400 C. P Broad street from East Bridge through to

SENATOR'S GOOD ROADS MEASURE WELL RECEIVED

ELYRIA—The bill introduced by Senator J. F. Burke regulating the amount of load upon automobile trucks and also regulating the size of tires passed the senate yesterday. It is believed that it will receive the approval of the house, and will eventually become a law.

This bill has the backing of the county commissioners and the State Highway department, as well as many automobile clubs throughout the State. It was designed as a protection to improved roads that were being broken down through overloading of heavy trucks thereby causing large expense in the upkeep of the roads. The present law has objectionable features, and in a number of instances convictions have failed where arrests have been made.

Senator Endly of this district has introduced a bill to make a rail road responsible for its failure to contribute its share toward keeping in repair and installing protective devices at crossings of two or more railroads.

STEEL TRUST WILL SUPPORT GARY IN FUTURE CONFLICTS WITH UNION LABOR IS VERDICT

Stockholders Unanimous in Their Approval of Resolutions to That Effect, Approval of Officials' Action in 1919 Strike Also Expressed

NEW YORK, April 19.—Elbert H. Gary, head of the United Steel corporation and his associates, in the management of the business have been pledged the undivided support of the stockholders of that vast organization in their future conflicts with labor unions.

This was the gist of the action taken by the stockholders at their session here Monday.

The pledge of support was declared to be unanimous on the part of the stockholders.

A resolution which was adopted said.

"We are prepared to accept, regardless of the sacrifices necessary thereto, whatever losses may be sustained in maintaining the right of each American citizen to enter into his own individual contract, should such be his desire, without hindrance from any human being."

While the labor question was discussed at length no mention was made of the new campaign to unionize the steel industry, set by organized labor forces to begin June 19.

Officials Praised

"We believe that in refusing to accept the terms dictated by non-employes of the company," said the resolution, "the officials and directors of the United States Steel Corporation have performed a service of inestimable value, not alone to the shareholders of the company, nor alone to the general citizenship of the United States, but to every inhabitant of the civilized globe as well, through defending the widest individual liberty and maintaining that right and justice are not the property of any privileged class, but the common heritage of all.

"We have no quarrel with union labor properly functioning in accordance with the principles of justice, liberty and law. We believe it is not within the province of any man, however, to forbid and interfere with the right and desire of the company's employes to labor, and that such interference which denies their right to labor, destitu

LORAIN — City Council again last night refused to confirm the mayor's appointment of Mrs. George Cuddeback as a member of the Lorain district board of health.

The matter was brought before council members by a letter written by the mayor to council asking that that body confirm his appointment.

Following the reading of the letter Councilman Schultz offered a resolution for the confirmation of Mrs. Cuddeback. When the vote was taken not a single councilman voted in favor of the resolution. Schultz evidently changed his mind, for when his name was called he declined to vote.

ELYRIA TO BE BEST LIGHTED IN THE LAND

West Bridge, will be provided with ornamental lighting, the middle section from East avenue to West avenue having two lights at each trolley pole, and Broad street east of East avenue and west of West avenue having one light on each trolley pole. Court street and Third street will be single lights on trolley poles. Cheapside and Second street between the square, and one light at the band stand in the park will be straight standards as shown.

The lamps in all the ornamental system will be of 1,000 C. P each and all burn until twelve o'clock midnight, each and every night. At twelve o'clock a large part of these lamps will go out and only sufficient lights left burning until daylight, to give proper protection to property and night traffic in this section only. This will affect a saving to the city.

The design for the ornamental lighting has been worked out by engineers and artists who have a world wide reputation The arrangement of the poles has been checked by the superintendent of light and power of the Cleveland Southwestern & Columbus railway.

The plan contemplates the entire elimination of all wooden poles in the business district in which these lights will be placed. It also contemplates the co-operation of the Lorain County Electric company with the Cleveland Southwestern & Columbus Railway company in the installation of the steel poles. Steel poles are to be supplied by the railway company and the ornamentation which surrounds the steel pole and the lamps and fixtures to be supplied by the Lorain County Electric company. This plan will make Elyria one of the best and most economically lighted cities of its size in the country.

The general lighting throughout the residential district will be of 250 C. P. lights, with a few exceptions where 100 C. P. will be used, such as narrow streets or short courts

A careful study has been made of all streets of the entire city both as to traffic conditions and foliage, width of streets, etc

In many instances two incandescent lamps will be installed where now one arc is in use, giving much better diffusion of illumination at an increase of less than ten per cent in cost to the city.

The entire plan has been to give the greatest number of lights at the least possible cost to the city.

When the installation of the new system is completed your citizens will have good lighting protection no matter what part of the city they may live in.

Respectfully submitted.
H. WHITFORD JONES,
Electrical Engineer

VARNEY REPUDIATED UNWRITTEN LAW BUT JURYMEN DIFFERED

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., April 19.—Sam Varney, charged with the murder of Travis Horton at Thacker, last October, amazed his counsel and the court when, testifying in his own behalf, he repudiated a plea of justification under the unwritten law. According to Varney the alleged intimacy between Mrs. Varney and Horton, testified to by a number of witnesses, had nothing to do with the homicide and that he acted in self defense after Horton had drawn a pistol to carry out a threat to kill him. Varney was acquitted.

After the verdict several of the jurors told Judge Bailey that they had disregarded Varney's plea of self defense and acquitted him because they believed his home had been invaded by Horton.

pronouncedly. Then he crossed his legs and kicked himself. He was awake, he admitted

Never Can Tell

"I am glad to know that some one has saved his money and provided for the future," commended Mayor Jones. "You never can tell by the clothes a person wears how much money he has. I was given the impression in court, you being shabbily dressed in working clothes and giving the impression that any fine would deprive your wife and child of the things necessary for subsistence. I was wrong.

"The lecture I gave I hope you took it well for I meant it for your good, continued the mayor. "Also keep the liberty bonds. That is one thing that I have done and that is to keep the bonds and hand them down. Too many persons are selling their liberty bonds at a loss and this is largely responsible for the condition of the country.

Lost His Job

"Get the comforts out of your family," continued Mr. Jones. "After all your best friends are your family."

"I lost my job at the Troxel plant" said Shoup. "The management said it didn't look good for the factory to have an employe exploited in police court. I think I can get a job at the Willys-Overland."

You don't need to worry about a job for a day or two," jibed in Mayor Jones.

Shoup was a polisher at the Troxel plant

Shoup immediately took the bonds to the bank for safe keeping.

Didn't Go Across

When questioned by Mayor Jones as how he came in possession of so many bonds, Mr. Shoup said that he was drafted into the service from Elyria and that when it appeared that he was about to be sent across the Atlantic he had his property converted into certified Liberty Bonds. "I didn't go across, however," said Mr. Shoup.

"I don't like to tell how I got the bonds because the Chronicle-Telegram reporter here will have it in the paper," said Mr. Shoup.

Mayor Jones complimented the man for working at a nominal salary with the large amount of money to his credit.

"The story in last night's Chronicle-Telegram sort of gave me a black eye," said Mr. Shoup. "The story intimated that the court reduced the fine in sympathy for my family. I can well provide for my family beside the story gives me a black eye if I want to get credit."

Had Other Funds

"You don't need to ask anyone for credit with that amount of liberty bonds," responded Mayor Jones.

Shoup said he had other funds but didn't think it was necessary to bring them to police court to corroborate his statement that his family is well provided for. "Besides," said Mr. Shoup, "the other property is taxable and liberty bonds are not taxable.

Mr. Shoup did not admit but intimated that he could scrape together $20.000 or $30.000 more if necessary.

Shoup's arrest ordinarily would result in a $500 fine in police court He probably has more money than any liquor law violator that has been fined here. The mayor was fooled and fooled badly in administering a $25 fine.

to them their freedom, imposes a condition of servitude, and is, in effect, the embodiment of the right to enslave."

Gary Urged Publicity

Mr. Gary's address in which he urged "publicity, regulation and reasonable control" of business through government agencies, as a possible "solution of, or antidote to the labor union problems," was applauded by the stockholders.

Wage reductions have not been considered up to the present, Mr. Gary said, adding that he thought "when the high cost of living has been materially reduced it will only be a question of time when there will be some readjustment of wages."

Asked as to his views regarding the report of the Interchurch World Movement on the steel strike of 1919, Mr. Gary said "I have my own notions regarding the men that got up that report. I don't care to talk about it. I think it better not to."

The steel head declined to make any predictions regarding future business conditions, but asserted that "if any other country can survive, the United States can prosper."

"I don't care to give you any advice in regard to your securities," he added smilingly, "but I am going to keep mine, at least for the present.

A proposal that the surplus of the corporation be limited to the $523.000.000 now at hand, because "this accumulation invited monopolistic attacks and confiscatory taxation," was defeated.

"We want to keep the corporation in a position," said Mr. Gary, "where no harm can come to it, no matter whatever happens. This is a bad time to reduce our surplus.

To Hold U. S. Bonds

He said that the corporation could not sell its $110.000,000 worth of government securities now without suffering a loss and urged that they be held until "We get as much as they cost us, or possibly a little more."

Turning to the subject of possible reduction of working hours for employes of the steel corporation, Mr. Gary said "the officers of this corporation, the presidents of subsidiary companies and a majority of others in positions of responsibility are in favor of abolishing the twelve hour day, and for this reason, and because of public sentiment, it is our endeavor and expectation to decrease the working hours—we hope in the comparatively near future."

IMPOSING CEREMONIAL MARKS ROYAL FUNERAL

BY FRANK E. MASON
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

POTSDAM, April 19.—Augusta Victoria, "empress of sorrow" was laid to her last rest here today in the Antiken Tempel," an unique mausoleum just off the palace of San Souci built by Frederick the Great. The old prussian king had named it so because it was the place where he forgot his cares and sorrows.

The funeral of the ex-kaiserin was the most imposing event seen with in the former German empire since the days of Hohenzollern reign.

Picked officers of the "Queens own" curassier and fusilier bodyguards (Augusta Victoria was queen of Prussia in addition to being German empress) acted as pall bearers assisted by formed court servants, removed the coffin from the funeral car.

In pomp and magnificience it lacked nothing of the old time imperial display.

At this cabling no untoward incident had occurred although the atmosphere was tense, particularly in Berlin, where, according to telephonic advices, the authorities are thoroughly prepared for any attempt by the extremists or conservatists to make the funeral of the ex-empress the occasion for a demonstration.

The old imperial colors fluttered at half mast from nearly every building.

Little Children Brighten Homes

EVERY young couple starting out in life has visions of joyful hours spent before the fireside with healthy, happy children; but, alas, how often young women who long for children are denied that happiness because of some functional derangement which may be corrected by proper treatment. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is just the medicine for these conditions, as the following letters show:

McDonald, Ohio.—"I suffered from a displacement, a weakness, and a great deal of pain. The doctor said nothing would help me but an operation. He said I could never have any children because I was too weak.

"I had often heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I tried it and it helped me. Now I am in the best of health, do all of my own work, and have a lovely boy six months old. I recommend your medicine to my friends and you have my permission to use this letter."—Mrs. J. C. Eagleson, 426 Garfield Ave., McDonald, Ohio.

Mesa, Colorado.—"Ever since I was a young girl I suffered from a great deal of pain every month. I tried different medicines, but only got relief for a short time. I had been married seven years, and wanted a child, but was not well enough. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as it had helped her, and I am happy to say it restored my health, my pains disappeared, and I have a fine little girl. I advise all women who suffer as I did to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. F. C. Wilmer, Box 94, Mesa, Colorado.

RELIEF OF WARSAW IS HAMPERED BY TRAFFIC AND LABOR TROUBLES

(By International News Service)

WARSAW, April 19.—Six steam ships containing 30,000 tons of American food supplies in addition to quantities of medical and relief supplies have arrived in Danzig. These are the first large shipments in bulk of American supplies to reach Poland since her period of greatest need began. Five additional steamers are expected in Danzig shortly.

At American Red Cross headquarters the complaint has been made that great delay was being experienced in getting the cargoes from Danzig to Warsaw. The Salaam brought 26 tons of medicinal supplies which were sorely needed in the work here, but which, so far have not been received. Delays in unloading are almost invariable, on account of labor troubles in Danzig After this the overburdened condition of the traffic between here and Danzig makes shipment a slow process. Shortage of rolling stock is now making the provisioning of Warsaw a matter of particularly great difficulty.

Polish newspapers here have given much space to the news of the arrival of these shipments, describing each cargo as it arrives in detail. The steamers that have been reported so far are the West Zede, Salaam, Danzig, Corvieltz Weichsel and the Ralum The cargoes consist principally of grain and flour, together with 2,000 tons of condensed milk and 400 tons of cocoa. The entire cargoes are consigned to various American relief organizations

Foreign Aid Indispensable

The statement of the Polish Ministry of Appropriation covering its activities for the year 1920 made public here to-ady, furnishes a lucid explanation of the reason why foreign aid in solving the problem of food supply for England is absolutely indispensable The scant programme of rationing which the Ministry originally framed for the year 1920-21 called for a minimum crop of cereals, to be delivered by the farmers of Poland to the Ministry for distribution expressed as 27 000 railway carloads Last fall after the Bolshevik invasion, when it was seen that the crop would not reach this figure the Ministry readjusted its programme of rationing cutting down the quantity of bread and debasing it still further in quality as well as making similar changes regarding other foodstuffs

The ministry, in its detailed statement, now shows that the crop actually garnered, was less than half the amount originally estimated It was, in fact, only 12,195 carloads M Shiwinski, the Minister of Appropriation, declares that had it not been necessary to abandon his policy of rationing altogether, the quantity of food possible to distribute to an individual would not have been sufficient to maintain life

Six reasons for choosing an Ohio

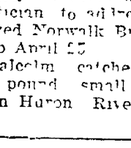

There are six things that your vacuum cleaner must do if you and it are to be successful in having a cleaner house in less time. Every one of these points is important and should be carefully watched.

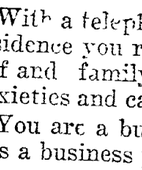

It must clean without scattering dust and the suction must draw dirt right through the rug. The Ohio will.

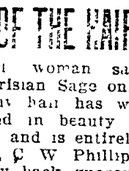

It must be able to clean in corners. The Ohio has no wheels to block the ends and the nozzle is shaped correctly.

It must pick up lint, threads, hairs, etc. without injuring the rug. The Ohio is gentle but efficient.

It must have attachments for cleaning walls, portieres, furniture, beds, etc. The Ohio has a full set.

It must save movingheavy furniture. The Ohio is designed to push under the ordinary bed, divan, bureau, etc.

It must be light in weight. The Ohio weighs only 11-¼ pounds and is easy to carry around the house.

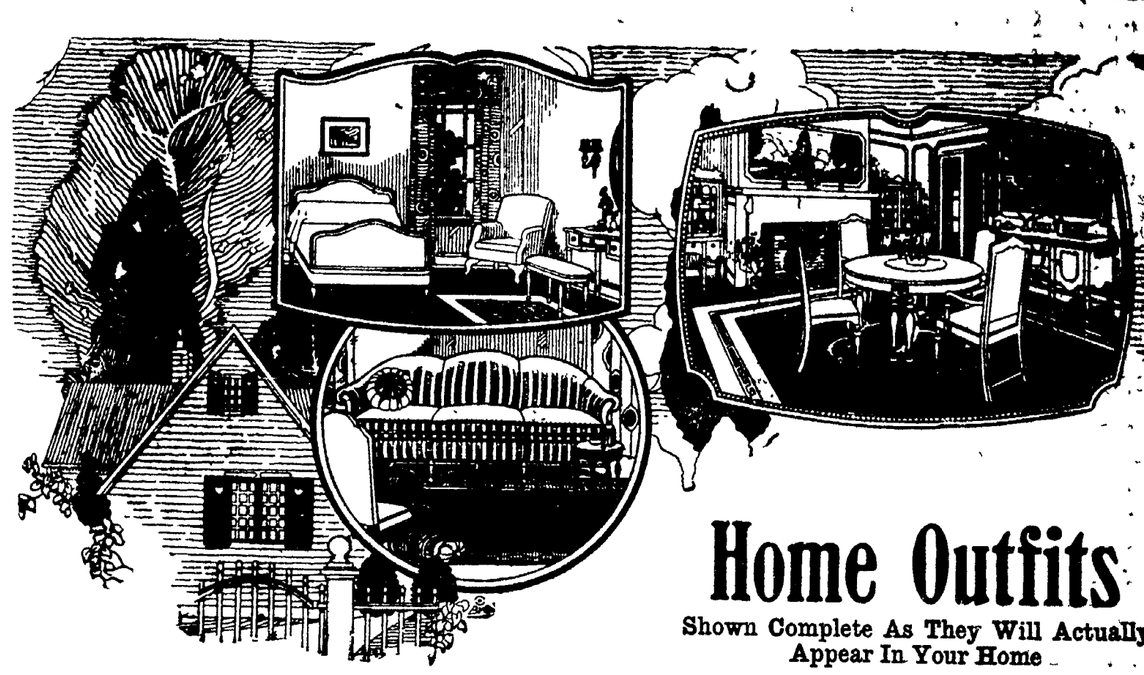

This is why the Ohio will fill your six cleaning needs. Every point of better cleaning has been built into the Ohio Electric Cleaner.

Come in today and let us show you the machine itself or ask us for a home demonstration.

Why Dicky Refused to Hear Madge's Story.

I LAY awake a long time upon that last night in my old home at Marvin. I listened to Dicky's even breathing beside me, grieving unreasonably at the irritation he had shown that evening, wondering how I was to make the opportunity in the hurry of the next morning to tell him what I thought I ought concerning my meeting with Grace Draper, and her appeal to me. Not until after midnight did I finally fall asleep, and as a consequence the first thing which reached my consciousness in the morning was Katie's knock upon the door.

"Missis Graham, you vake?" she asked cautiously.

"Yes, Katie, what is it?" I demanded sleepily, while Dicky pushed his head farther into his pillow and uttered a muttered anathema upon my little maid's zeal.

"Nothings, only I goin' over now to help Missis Durkee feex breakfast, so I thought I call you vunce before I go, so you not sleep and Meester Graham not miss hees train."

"Thank you, Katie, we'll get up right away," I returned.

I heard her hurrying down the hall, and hoped that Dicky would not explode before she got out of earshot. If there is one thing more than another which ruffles his temper it is being awakened suddenly, and he growled his disapproval before she had reached the stairs.

"When in creation are you ever going to get that girl trained so she won't go screeching around the house like a carrousel siren?" he demanded, but he had the grace to keep his voice at a low pitch, and I was sure Katie didn't hear him.

I knew better than to make any defence of Katie. I was sentimental enough to wish no unpleasant memories of this our last morning together in our old home, but I saw that Dicky apparently had no consciousness of its differing from any other morning, and I was too proud to remind him of its special significance. I realized also that I must watch my step carefully or I would have one of his outbursts of temper as a last remembrance of the Marvin home.

Dicky Is Querulous.

"I'm sorry she woke you so suddenly," I said, getting out of bed and slipping into my bathrobe and mules. "Do you want your shower first or shall I take mine? I think you have time for a tiny cat nap if you want it. You dress so much more quickly than I can."

"Oh, take yours first if you want to!" he replied grudgingly. "But if you think anybody can take another nap after that Comanche yell you're woozy. However, I'll like a chance to stretch some of the kinks out so run along."

I hurried out, revelled in the tingling shower, restored the tub and room to the immaculate condition in which Katie had put it, then came back to our room to find Dicky sound asleep again.

I looked at my watch, decided that I could let him sleep for ten minutes longer, and hastily dressed in the warm clothing which I had selected for driving. At the end of the ten minutes I called him softly, touching him gently that he might not be startled.

"Eh! What?" he exclaimed, stared at seeing me fully dressed, and leaped out of bed, his eyes and face stormy.

"If you've let me oversleep so that I miss my train!" he growled unreasonably.

No Time.

"But I haven't," I said lightly, determined to keep my poise and good-nature no matter what provocation he gave me. "You've only slept about fifteen minutes, and you have plenty of time."

"Well, don't get in my way then!" he said ungraciously, and I slipped quietly into the alcove of my room, sat down by the window and waited, pondering how best I could introduce the subject of my meeting Grace Draper. I dreaded upsetting him, and I had not the slightest idea whether he would be angry or pleased at the attitude I had taken toward her.

I said no word, however, until he had taken his shower and finished his dressing. Then, as he turned from the mirror after a last approving survey of the twist he had achieved upon his tie I spoke hesitatingly:

"Dicky, there is something I want to tell you if you can give me a minute or two."

"Do you need money?" he countered. "I sent a big draft to your bank yesterday, but I have some ready cash with me if you want it."

"No, I have plenty," I returned. "I don't want to carry too much with me. But I want to tell you—"

He glanced at his watch impatiently. "Look here!" he demanded irritably. "Is it any matter of life and death that it can't wait for a few days until I see you again? You're not going to fall off the face of the earth because you're going out to the east end of the island to hunt a home. Neither am I. And I think it entirely likely that I'll be out there, or you here at Mrs. Durkee's in the course of a week or two. So why spoil a perfectly good morning?"

I gave a little mental whoop of approval. My conscience need not trouble me longer. Dicky himself had put it out of my power to tell him anything about Grace Draper.

What to Do to Give Relief in Congestion of the Brain

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health, New York City

DR COPELAND

FREE circulation of the blood is essential to good health. Every organ must be furnished with its full quota. The brain is peculiarly sensitive to changes in its supply. When too much blood reaches it, there result certain symptoms characteristic of congestion of the brain.

Congestion of the brain is of two types. When it is due to over-distention of the arteries, it is called "active congestion." When it is due to the venous blood being retarded in its return from the brain, it is called "passive congestion."

In either form, there will be headache and dizziness. Likewise there are apt to be disorders of the special nerves of hearing, sight, smelling, taste or feeling. In severe cases there may be convulsions.

There are many causes for congestion of the brain, especially for the active form.

One cause is heat exposure or sunstroke. Another cause, not so common of late, is excessive indulgence in alcohol. Overeating is almost as bad as drinking too much.

Many brain workers strive to cheat nature. Brain congestion is the penalty frequently paid for this offence.

The symptoms may come on suddenly, or they may be gradual in their onset. As would be expected, they are made worse by lying down.

The most common symptoms have been suggested—headache and dizziness.

The disturbances of the special senses may be indicated by roaring in the ears, flashes of light before the eyes and twinges of pain here and there. There is redness of the face and eyes. The mind is dull, and the patient is irritable.

In a child the symptoms may be quite disturbing. Loss of sleep, restlessness, grinding the teeth, screaming in the sleep, and, more terrifying than all the rest, convulsions.

Congestion of the brain rarely lasts long. The symptoms subside in a few hours, but are apt to return unless the cause is permanently removed.

The treatment is simple. The cause should be removed, and in this way the recurrence of the symptoms will be prevented.

For immediate relief nothing is better than warmth for the feet and cold for the head. An adult may have his feet placed in hot mustard water and an ice cap put to his head.

A baby or young child should be placed in a tub of hot water. Take care that it isn't too hot and capable of scalding the flesh. Elevate the head and shoulders so that gravity will assist the flow of blood from the head. Then keep the head cool with cold water compresses or an ice pack.

This treatment usually will suffice to control the convulsions.

Care in feeding must be exercised.

The medication will be directed by the family doctor. If the heart is abnormal in action he will advise corrective measures.

Good Night Stories

HOW SQUEEDEE SETTLED A DISPUTE.

"I'LL just bet anything they don't!" exclaimed David.

"Well, daddy said they did," replied Doris, "and I guess he knows if anyone does."

"What's all this fuss about?" laughed a merry voice, as Squeedee, the little elfin from Joyland, hopped upon the log beside the two children. "What's the bet, anyway?"

"Oh, Doris is trying to make me believe the Chinese make a soup out of birds' nests," laughed David. "Who ever heard of such a thing?"

"Daddy calls it bird nest soup, anyway, so there!" exclaimed his sister.

"Well, I guess Daddy knows, then," laughed the elfin. "But I've a good idea. We'll just go and take a squint at those bird nests. Maybe the name sounds worse than the soup really is."

And before the children knew what was happening they found themselves sailing through the air beside the elfin. They landed on the very top of a tall peak dotted with funny little bird nests.

"Now then," said Squeedee, pointing to the funny little nests, "these are the nests the Chinese use for their soups. And if I'm not mistaken, there is Mrs. Esculent Swallow building a nest this very second. Some folks wouldn't believe there are birds who spin the way a spider does, but there's the proof."

Doris and David crept nearer the queer-looking bird, who resembled a cliff swallow.

"How in the world can you spin such a lovely nest?" Doris asked, after she had been introduced to the little worker.

"Easy enough," replied Mrs. Esculent Swallow. She opened her mouth and showed the children two big swellings in the glands under her tongue. "From those swellings a sticky fluid comes which I spin into a nest. Now watch."

She hopped to the edge of the rock, pressed her tongue against it, then ran back a few steps, drawing out a long, gummy thread as she went. It dried and hardened almost as fast as the air touched it.

By turning her head from one side to the other and weaving the gummy threads under and over each other she formed a web-like nest. When it was finished it was about the size and shape of a quarter of an egg shell divided along the entire length. It was as white as snow and very clear.

"My, it's a busy time around here when the nest-gatherers come for our offerings," laughed Mrs. Esculent Swallow. "The nest-gatherers, you know, live in the caves here and make a regular business of gathering our nests."

Doris and David Crept Nearer the Queer-looking Bird.

"How in the world do they do it?" asked David.

He loved to climb, but he couldn't imagine how any one could scale those heights without the aid of magic. "How do they get the nests off the rocks?"

"That's easy enough," laughed Mrs. Esculent Swallow. "They have a thin rattan ladder fixed at the end of a long pole which they wedge against the rocks. Two men climb on the ladder. One carries a long, four-pointed spear with a lighted candle on it, for these walls are dark to most folks. The reason you can see so well is because of Squeedee's magic power. Well, the nest-gatherer finds the nest he wishes, twists the prongs of the spear in it, and off it comes. The man lower down on the ladder puts the nest into a bag which hangs from his waist."

"And you don't mind?" asked Doris, who could hardly believe her ears.

Mrs. Esculent Swallow laughed merrily, and was about to speak when Squeedee interrupted her.

"The best nests are bound together with strips of rattan, and bring about nine dollars a nest!"

"Oh, yes!" exclaimed Mrs. Esculent Swallow. "The nest-gatherers claim to make big money from our nests. Three crops a year is all they take, and we can well afford to give them that for the pleasure it gives others."

And Mrs. Esculent Swallow very politely bade her guests good-day, and Squeedee and the children returned to their home, both determined, if ever they had a chance, to have a taste of bird's-nest soup.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am in love with a boy two years my senior. I think he's a very nice boy. I have been going with him for about eight months. I have always found him true. For about two weeks a girl has been telling me that she sees this boy with another girl. He says he loves me.

Now, dear Annie Laurie, please give me your best advice, because I love this boy very much. What shall I do? Tell him about it or not go with him any more? I am 20 years old.

UNHAPPY BROWN EYES.

UNHAPPY BROWN EYES. It is but fair to the boy to give him a chance to defend himself. This girl may be misrepresenting him to you.

Annie Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. Letters to Miss Laurie should be addressed to her, in care of this office.

WINIFRED BLACK WRITES ABOUT If Trees Could Talk

Copyright, 1921, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Winifred Black

METHUSELAH—that's what we named it—the oldest, grayest, most venerable tree on the point.

And when you say that, you've said a good deal for on this particular point are standing trees which were over a thousand years old when Pontius Pilate was a judge in Jerusalem.

Great, broad-shouldered giants they are, too, with their rich green foliage.

Vigorous they are yet, to this very day. And there they stand looking out to sea, like monuments of a forgotten time.

"If they could only speak," said one who stood in the shadow of Methuselah's wide-thronged branches with me yesterday, "what tales they could tell.

What Could They Tell?

"Indians, Astecs, the conquering Spaniards, the fleet of ships manned by long-bearded Russians coming to take possession of the land, the days of the gold strike, the cattle kings and their ranges, fandangos and siestas, christenings and weddings, marriages and deaths—all these things they have seen for hundreds and hundreds of years. Oh, if they could only talk!"

But—they can't. And I wonder if we should be thrillingly interested in what the trees had to say if they could speak.

What would they tell us of the Spanish invasion of the Pacific Coast—for instance? Not a thing, probably, unless some of the Spaniards cut down one of their ancient brethren and used his limbs for firewood.

What do they know or care of the black-robed missionaries who came so far to carry the story to the Indians?

In what year was the great drought?

When did Brother Solomon or Sister Sheba find it necessary to send their roots traveling underground a long, long way—for water?

When was the season of the pest of squirrels? And from what country did they come—the chattering bluebirds that drove out the quiet flocks of gray and dun?

The wind—ah!—records of that if you like, for the wind concerns them very closely. Rain, too, and sunshine—these things they would remember well. But men and their little doings—why should such smallness concern them?

Wise or Stupid?

They are probably a good deal more interested in the ants and spiders that run up and down the bark than they are in any man or king among men.

What egotists we are—we human beings—always thinking that every other created thing recognizes us as creatures of supreme importance!

And if the truth were known, doubtless the ants and spiders and butterflies don't know we're alive, and never even heard that we were masters of the earth. They go about on their little errands, building and tearing down, coming to life and dying, starting wars and coming back again to peace.

Wouldn't it be queer if we should discover some day that we are just little ants ourselves, and that above us and around us, in this very same world we inhabit, is a race of really superior beings who regard us as rather disagreeable nuisances, always getting in the way and running back and forth, and having a great time over nothing?

Methuselah—how old and gray you are—old tree! Are you really very wise or just incalculably stupid?

FAMOUS "WITS" OF HISTORY

Little Stories of Men and Women Whose Sayings Are Still Remembered

By MARK STUYVESANT

The Curiously Funny Reply Wellington Gave an Artist.

THE "Iron Duke"—Arthur Wellesley, Duke of Wellington—was the hero of England during his lifetime. The defeat of Napoleon at Waterloo raised him, in the imagination of many an Englishman, to unexampled heights. But through all the adulation which came to him, Wellington contrived to keep his sane viewpoint. The following incident illustrates both these facts.

When Wellington was no longer young he was standing one evening opposite Apsley House in Piccadilly. The street was crowded with cabs and other vehicles passing in both directions in bewildering numbers. The duke was hesitating on the curbstone when a gentleman nearly as old as he made some demonstration of assisting the duke to cross the street.

When the duke reached the gate of Apsley House he touched his hat and said:

"I thank you, sir."

The elderly gentleman, we are told by the Athenaem, uncovered, holding his hat at his knee, and eagerly said:

"My lord, I have passed a long and not uneventful life, but never did I hope to reach the day when I might be of the slightest assistance to the greatest man that ever lived."

The duke looked at him calmly, and in a voice not the least choked by emotion, replied:

"Don't be a cursed fool!"

Then he turned on his heel and marched into Apsley House.

During the duke's lifetime there was a craze among painters to depict scenes of the battle of Waterloo. Sir William Allen painted and exhibited at the Royal Academy several large pictures of the battle. Wellington purchased one of these at what was considered a very large price. The artist was instructed to appear at the Horse Guards on a certain day to receive payment.

Promptly on the hour appointed the artist made his appearance. The duke was no less punctual. As soon as the artist entered the room the duke began counting out the price of the picture. The artist had what he thought was a most opportunely happy thought. He suggested that to save the time of one whose every hour was devoted to his great duties a check might be given on the duke's bankers.

The duke did not seem to hear. Naturally supposing that his modest hint might not have been heard, Sir William repeated it, saying quite loudly:

"Perhaps your grace would give me a check on your bankers. It would save you the trouble of counting notes."

"It Would Save You Trouble."

This time the old hero heard. Whether irritated at being interrupted in the middle of his count or speaking his real sentiments, he exclaimed:

"And do you suppose I would allow my bankers to know what a fool I have been?"

During the peninsular campaign it is said that the duke called before him the commander of a certain regiment and gave orders that the officer lead his regiment against the enemy's batteries at St. Sebastian. He complimented the officer by saying that his regiment was the first in the world.

"Yes," replied the officer, "and before your lordship's orders are finally executed it will probably be the first in the next or I miss my guess."

Diary of a Fashion Model

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

She Discusses Some Interesting Features of a Three-Piece Suit.

I ALWAYS enjoy meeting friends who have just arrived from Europe, as I'm sure to get some new style ideas from them. This forenoon I hurried to the pier to meet Miss Weston, who is a style expert with one of the exclusive Fifth avenue stores.

"Ah! There you are!" she exclaimed as she came toward me.

"Yes, indeed," I replied, "but is there no one else to meet you?"

"Not this trip," she answered. "My sister cabled they were going South, so if you had not been here to greet me I should have felt like an immigrant.

"I'm glad I could come. And I am so anxious to get some style news," I answered with a smile.

"There are lots of interesting things to tell you about," she replied, "so come right along with me now and we can talk for the next hour or so."

"Have you seen any smart three-piece suits?" I asked, as we drove rapidly toward Miss Weston's apartment.

"Yes, quite a number, and I have a photograph of one of the prettiest," she said, as she opened her pocketbook and drew forth a picture of the model I have sketched.

"That does look smart!" I exclaimed, as we turned into Fifth avenue. "What material is used?"

"Serge, although it could be developed in one of the new twills or even a wool velour," replied Miss Weston.

"What color is it?" I next asked.

"Brick. But the braid trimming is black," answered Miss Weston.

"The braid looks rather unusual," I remarked as I studied the photograph. "It looks different, but it is really just a military braid finely pleated, and so takes on a novel appearance," replied Miss Weston.

"Is that a new treatment?" I asked.

"Yes, it is. It is used extensively on many of the suits and dresses," replied Miss Weston.

"I like the long collar and the pockets, which are so skilfully concealed by the braiding," I remarked.

"Yes, and I think you'll admire the sleeves with their slashed cuffs, outlined by braid," said Miss Weston.

"What is the blouse made of?" I asked.

"Foulard in the same shade of brick as the suit," answered Miss Weston.

"The motifs, I suppose, are in black?" I asked.

"Yes, the color scheme of the suit is reproduced in the blouse," was Miss Weston's reply.

"Is the belt of the serge attached to the coat or the blouse?" I questioned, as I pointed to the photograph.

"It is attached to the sides of the coat so that the fronts may be quite loose," was the answer Miss Weston gave to this query.

"I suppose the blouse is a simple tie-on affair in surplice mode," I continued.

"Yes, but it is exceptionally attractive in its draping," answered Miss Weston.

"I like the dangling feathers on the side of the soft felt hat," I commented.

"Yes, the curled Numidi is good-looking, and adds to the style of the costume, which I consider admirable," commented Miss Weston.

"What color are the stockings and shoes worn with this costume?" I asked.

"Black," replied Miss Weston.

Are You Planning a Party to Celebrate May Day?

Oats, peas, beans and barley grows,
Oats, peas, beans and barley grows,
Nor you nor I nor nobody knows
Where oats, peas, beans and barley grows.

SOUNDS familiar, doesn't it? Though many of us have played the good old game many times, we never perhaps stopped to ask where it came from. If we had, we should have learned that it has always been a part of the May day celebration in the British Isles. From there it came over here, maybe among the many other wonderful things which came on the Mayflower.

Most of us know, or have heard of the maypole dance, done as children do it. But "bringing in the May"—as the English call cutting and stripping the tree for the pole, and bringing it in the night before May day to be decorated for the dance—adds a new significance to this ceremony.

Like many such festivals, the origin of May day dancing lies in an old religious ceremony.

May day is sacred to the Madonna in Italy. Religious processions and strawberry festivals, the streets decorated with spring flowers and branches, and the dancing of the Salterello mark the day.

In Russia, the religious feature is the Khorovood or choral dances.

In England, besides the May games, there are historical costume dances with Robin Hood, Friar Tuck and Maid Marian, as well as Little John in evidence, and in many places they still dance the old Morris dance. This old, Moorish dance has had many figures added to it since it left Spain, among which the bell, sword and ribbon figures are the most attractive.

Why not revive some of the old customs and for novelty's sake give a floral party? The house may be decorated with budding tree branches, paper butterflies suspended by invisible threads, and lots of spring flowers.

A delightful innovation would be to make the affair a costume dinner dance, with the suggestion to guests that their costumes be as spring-like as possible. Send the invitations in the form of paper butterflies.

Decorate the dinner table by covering it with leaf green silk, crepe or chiffon, veiled with silver gauze.

In the centre of the table arrange a small May pole with ribbons fastened at the top. These may be in the tan, leaf green, blue, pink, yellow, lilac, silver and cream shades. After fastening the dinner favors to the pole twist the ribbons loosely over them, running one ribbon end to each plate, where a place card and a tiny basket of spring flowers may be attached. Wind the ribbons in such a manner that the guests, when moving to the right with each course, shall unwind the ribbons and expose the favors.

Use green and white or gold and white china. The service plates may be surrounded by wreaths of flowers and ferns. Have yellow, pink, lilac and green candlesticks covered with paper flower shades to match. Fill little paper May baskets with marzipan peas and mushrooms.

Color the cake frostings, creams, jellies and sauces to match the ribbons as far as possible.

The evening's entertainment may be started with a game of "Oats, peas, beans," under a good leader, or a Morris dance—the various figures of which can be obtained from books on the subject at the Public Library.

To-morrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 20.

While the planetary testimonies for this day point to active and interesting conditions, under the stimulus of Mars trine Saturn, yet the issues may not be entirely satisfactory. Things may not run smoothly, and the Lunar aspect to Mars being inimical, there may be friction and strife. A firm hold should be kept on the tongue and temper if the good offices of the energizing forces are to rule. Great caution should be exercised in the matter of letters and contracts. New projects should be fostered with the spirit of initiative well aspected.

Those whose birthday it is have the forecast of an active year, but one which should be well handled in order to reap the best returns. Quarrels and litigations should be shunned, and papers should be signed with care. A child born on this day, although being enterprising, resourceful and courageous, may be impetuous and lack self-control.

If a girl happens to have married the fellow in the meantime, the discovery may be a real tragedy. In "Civilian Clothes" in which Thomas Meighan is appearing at the Colonial theater last time today, the situation develops into a jolly comedy. The hero proves very emphatically that clothes don't make the man and, in the end, the pretty heroine, played by Martha Mansfield, is quite ready to agree with him.

'FORBIDDEN FRUIT' IN BIG HIT AT TEMPLE, LORAIN

Audiences always marvel at the skill of Cecil B. DeMille, and with each succeeding photoplay presented by him, his admirers are led to believe the apex of the cinema art has been reached. His latest offering "Forbidden Fruit," which was presented at the Temple theater with extraordinary success last night is in many respects more lavish than any of his previous efforts and runs the gamut of the human emotions. "Frbidden Fruit" tells the story of a young woman who is torn by her wifely duties to a rascally gambler and crook husband and a true love for another that comes to her. The story by Jeanie MacPherson is replete with pathos and thrills which stir the heart.

Included in the cast of notables players are Agnes Ayers, Forrest Stanley and Clarence Burton who play the roles of the three central characters, and who in this production make their initial appearance under the DeMille banner; Theodore Kosloff, the Russian dancer; Kathlyn Williams, who has starred in many Paramount productions; and Theodore Roberts the veteran character actor, Shannon Day, Julia Fay and Bertram Johns.

MANY HURT DURING FILMING OF GREAT JUNGLE ROMANCE IN THE HOLLYWOOD STUDIOS

Ten persons were more or less seriously injured during filming of the great serial production of "The Son of Tarzan," the Edgar Rice Burroughs' romance which will be shown at the Dreamland theater today. With one exception all the accidents occurred at different times.

P. Dempsey Tabler and Eugene Burr, both actors, were the first to suffer hurts. Both men sustained broken ribs when a small rowboat capsized. George Morrell, an assistant director, came next with an injured limb, torn during an automobile accident. When Roy Somerville, the scenario writer who adapted the "Son of Tarzan," for the screen, nearly lost his life.

Gordon Griffith, the young boy screen actor narrowly escaped blood poisoning from the wound caused by the scratch of an angry lioness, while Mac Giraci, another juvenile in the cast, received painful hurts when she was attacked by a young ape.

HUMOR AND PATHOS HAPPILY BLENDED IN "THE ROUND UP"

Roscoe Arbuckle Seen to Excellent Advantage in His First Feature Play.

Roscoe Arbuckle, long a favorite in short comedies, makes his bow as a star in feature pictures as "Slim Hoover," the fat sheriff, in George Melford's production of "The Round Up," for Paramount, showing at the American theater now. In it he has a role which not only offers him every opportunity for the expression of his individual type of humor, but presents him as an actor of varied talents hitherto unsuspected by his admirers.

"The Round Up" written by Edmund Day, was produced in New York in August, 1907. A highly dramatic story of Indians and rough and ready plainsmen, the big scene of the stage play was a battle in the narrow Arizona canyon. In the In the screen version, this scene, staged in natural surroundings with hundreds of Indians, frontiersmen and soldiers, gains tremendously in its melodramatic appeal.

Supporting Mr. Arbuckle is an unusual cast which includes Tom Forman, who also wrote the scenario for "The Round Up," Mabel Julienne Scott, Irving Cummings, Wallace Beery, Jane Acker, Edward Sutherland, Guy Oliver, Lucien Littlefield and Jane Wolfe.

INTERESTING TALK ON SOUTH AMERICA GIVEN CLASSES

Mr. Bateman's Commercial Geography classes had the opportunity of hearing an account of a trip through South America, yesterday, in connection with the study of that country. The talk was given by Louis Stephan, a member of the High school body, who spent last summer with friends in South America. He told of the habits of the natives, of the curious plants, the dense vegetation and many other points of interest. He also had a coffee plant, which was brought from Brazil, and a knife which is used by the natives to cut their way through the undergrowth. His talk was made much more interesting by the use of pictures which he had taken of plants, trees, rivers, parks, mountains, natives and huts, while on his trip.

OBERLIN NEWS

MAY FESTIVAL FEATURES FIVE OPERA STARS

OBERLIN—Instead of three concerts usually included in Musical Union programs for the spring festival in other years two concerts will be given by the organization on the May Festival dates, May 6 and 7.

The feature attraction is the performance of "Lohengrin" to be given Saturday evening with five operatic artists in the leading role. This is considered by critics as Wagner's greatest work and officers of the union say they have secured five of the best artists to be found outside of the Metropolitan Opera company for the rendition of this work.

These artists are Theodore Karle tenor; Richard Bonelli, baritone; Robert Maitland, bass; Miss Lucy Van de Mark, soprano, and Miss Delphine March, mezzo-soprano.

The only concert in which all five singers will appear is the performance of "Lohengrin" to be given Saturday evening with the Musical Union and the Cleveland Symphony orchestra. Theodore Karle will sing the title role of "Lohengrin." Mr. Bonelli is to give the part of Frederick prince of Telramund; Mr. Maitland will interpret the role of King Henry and the Herald.

Elsa will be sung by Miss Van de Mark and the part of Gertrude by Miss March.

All the singers are experienced in opera and have sung the roles many times before. They are large in stature musically and physically, according to advance notices received from the New York management. Miss March and Mr. Bonnelli will join the Metropolitan Opera company in the fall.

Theodore Karle is to be the soloist in the recital Friday evening by the Cleveland Symphony orchestra. Mr. Karle is to give a recital in Cleveland the Wednesday preceding his performance here. He is hailed by many critics as America's greatest tenor.

NEW BOOKS ON LIBRARY SHELVES

LORAIN—The Public library has placed in circulation this week the following adult books, with quite a number of juvenile books, both new and replacements.

"Americanization of Edward Bok" by Bok. This is one of the most widely reviewed books of the winter, the story of a Dutch immigrant boy, who became editor of the Ladies Home Journal, of the work he did and the people he knew, Roosevelt, Kipling, Holmes, Gladstone, and many other famous leaders. A vivacious and entertaining narrative for everybody, (boys, girls and grownups.

GREENSBURG MACHINIST DROPS A THOUSAND DOLLARS EASY

Spent His Money Uselessly Trying Different Remedies to Rid Himself of Digestive Troubles, But Had No Success Until He Tried Nerv-Worth, and This Soon Ended Indigestion.

"I have spent at least a thousand dollars in an endeavor to rid myself of indigestion and stomach trouble, which I have had for 20 years, but got no results. My stomach and digestion, together with extreme nervousness, caused me to lose much valuable time. For the last 11 years I have been a machinist foreman of the Kelly-Jones Co. of, Greensburg, and my time was worth money. I was compelled to lay off 10 weeks not long ago. Doctors said they could give me only temporary relief. Finally I saw Nerv-Worth advertised, and determined to try it, and I am glad to say that new after using only part of a bottle, I am no longer troubled with indigestion or nervousness, and I have gained in weight instead of losing weight, as formerly. I can eat anything I want when I want it, and it thoroughly agrees with me. I most cheerfully recommend Nerv-Worth to all, for it has done more than the makers claimed for it." Thus wrote D. F. Smith, who resides at 122 N. Maple Ave., Greensburg, Pa. You will find that if you suffer as Mr. Smith suffered, Nerv-Worth will quickly give you health. It will aid and benefit your whole digestive system, relieve your nervous condition, and tone and invigorate you throughout. If it doesn't benefit you after you have taken your first bottle, your money will be refunded. Sold on a money-back guarantee by C. W. Phillips and all leading druggists everywhere.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 20c.

JUDGE WEBBER TELLS HOW LORAIN COUNTY STOOD FOR RIGHT IN SLAVERY DAYS

ELYRIA—A few weeks ago Judge Webber told the student body of the high school several facts of historical interest concerning Lorain County. Yesterday afternoon in the auditorium he contiued his address. His subject was the Underground Railway of slavery days. The four greatest statesmen of their day, Daniel Webster, John C. Calhoun, Henry Clay, and Stephen Douglas, went down to defeat in the race for the presidency because they made a mistake, they stood for slavery, which was wrong. In 1620, the same year the Pilgrims planted the tree of liberty in Plymouth, two Dutch vessels planted the first seed of slavery in Jamestown where they landed a cargo of slaves.

Not long after the Fugitive slave law was passed the eyes of the whole nation were turned on Oberlin, the college town of Lorain County. Oberlin was at that time one of the many stations along the underground railway. When the slave law was passed Oberlin defied it and aided any slave who came to her borders to escape instead of returning him to his master. Finally a Kentucky slave fled to Oberlin where he found work on a farm. A year later three Southern men appeared and with the aid of a pro-slavery farmer the negro boy was enticed out of Oberlin territory where the Kentuckians seized him. On the way to Wellington they were seen and then were pursued, the boy being rescued. The Federal Court with President Buchanan indicted twenty-five for violating the Fugitive Slave Law. Then the courthouse in Elyria got busy and charged the three men with kidnapping which was a penitentiary offense. In the clash between Elyria and the Federal Court, Elyria proved to be the quicker-witted and the three Southerners offered to return home without the boy to escape imprisonment. Judge Webber told many other incidents but this shows better how right with only a few behind it can, if the few are courageous, triumps over injustice with a nation back of it.

It is a long time since so interesting and so well-given an address has been made at high school chapel.

Local Talent Play Recalled By Popular Request of Public

ELYRIA—It is not often that the public requests the repetition of an amateur home-talent performance, but when it does, it is sure proof that the production must be good. Such a request has been made concerning the play, "Strongheart," which was put on at the Rialto last week under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. The play was so well liked by those who witnessed it that many asked for the privilege of seeing it again and so the "Y" has arranged to stage "Strongheart" for the second time, on Friday evening of this week at the high school auditorium Many people who did not go before, not realizing what an unusual thing they were missing, will now have an opportunity to witness this production, which has been pronounced by critics and theater-goers to be the best home-talent play Elyria has seen in many years.

Everything that was used or done in the play last week will be repeated this week. Exactly the same cast will be used and the performance will not be changed or shortened. This means quite a task for the young players, because of the fact that the accommodations, on stage and off, are so very much smaller at the high schol than at the Rialto. It is obvious that a whole football team in its dirty togs requires quite a lot of space. The cast will be working under a difficulty, but there is no doubt that they will live up to the high standard they have set for themselves, if they do not surpass it.

Good music means a lot to such a play as "Strongheart," and that is one of the features that made the play such a success at its former showing Mrs. Chapman's orchestra, which furnished this essential last week has been engaged to play with the second performance on Friday evening.

The Y M C. A. authorities are anxious that every person in Elyria has an opportunity to see 'Strongheart," and in order to facilitate this they decided to cut the price on the second performance, and have done so very decidedly. There is already quite a rush for seats and a packed house is predicted.

Our Warblers

ELYRIA — Canadian Warblers are another species of the flycatching group. They too, breed north of us, but are often seen during migration. He wears a heavy neck lace of black, which looks much like a fringe of jet beads, upper parts are gray, with black spots on the crown, and forehead wholly black,; line from bill to eye, and eye-ring, yellow; lores and malar stripe, black, running into the neck lace; under parts yellow. Their song is a clear, loud, ringing warble. They nest on the ground and try to conceal the eggs with moss; or by placing the nest under the roots of some tree, where it is very difficult to find it.

No excuse for any one to miss in the identification of the little Redstart; for he is sure to flirt his gorgeous coat before your eyes many times, while he is hunting insects in the cherry tree; and darting out after flies every second, or so. His beautiful orange-red and black tail is always opened up like my ladies dainty fan; and he seems very vain of the bright colors that he is able to display as he darts like a flash thru the trees. His upper parts are a shining black; outer tail feather, bright orange-red. When perching he is fluttering his wings in a nervous way, and opening and closing his tail like a fan. They are even more active than most of the flycatchers; and are sure to capture a fly, as they dart out from the trees in pursuit of a swarm of gnats.

The Yellow-Breasted Chat is the largest of the warbler family; and he is also the clown of the family; and he should be called the clown of the bird world. For no other bird exists, with us that is so extremely ludicrous as is the Chat They so conceal themselves in the bushes that it is difficult to discover them. even when you can hear their mocking voices continually. He is a bird of unusual interest, in habits, and song. He is very suspicious; but if you keep very quiet, you may be rewarded by seeing him suddenly fly out, and upward, until he attains a heighth of fifty feet; then he will abondon himself to song, uttering a series of weird squawks and whistles, and gradually settling back to the earth, with much fluttering of the wings and jerking of the tail, and likely with his legs hanging limp doing all sorts of clown tricks, evidently with the keenest enjoyment.

But because this bird is a clown it does not prove that he cannot sing He is often called the Yellow Mocking bird. His love song is like a series of fairy chimes He takes a position on some elevated perch, where he can get a good survey for a considerable distance, then he wings his way upward on fluttering wings and those legs dangling, and as he rises, he pours out a perfect flood of liquid gurgles and whistles, like a silvery cascade, as one wonderful note after another comes to us, until he reaches the apex of his upward flight; then he settles to earth again, doing his clownish tricks as he slowly descends. His song is impossible to describe, and must be heard to be appreciated; for as a vocalist he is most unique and entertaining

If the Chat's nest is discovered, she will break the eggs, then desert the nest. The nest is placed in low bushes, not over five feet from the ground If the Cowbird deposits an egg in the Chat's nest she will destroy that, and also her own.

WAYNE COUNTY ADDED TO NEW APPEAL COURT

Judge C. G. Washburn, Elyria, to Preside If New District Is Approved by Legislators

ELYRIA—The bill providing for a new appelate court district in which Lorain County is involved has been revived at Columbus.

The district composed of Cuyahoga (Cleveland), Medina, Summitt, Akron and Lorain counties form the present district. It was figured that with the growth of Cleveland and Akron that the present district was too large and a bill was drafted making Cleveland a separate district and then making the remainder of the district of Lorain, Medina and Summitt counties another separate district.

The bill passed the legislature but was apparently pigeon-holed by the senate which suddenly revived the bill and amended it to include Wayne (Wooster) county.

Judge C. G. Washburn, Elyria, who is at present presiding judge of the present court of appeals will be presiding of the new appelate court. A third judge will be appointed for the Cleveland court and two judges will be appointed to complete the judgeships for the new district to be created. Akron is sure of one appointment and Medina and Wooster are expected to battle for the third selection.

A judge on the court of appeals bench get $8000 annually.

SEEK SIMPLER DIVORCE LAWS

Written by MARGERY REX for International News Service

NEW YORK, April 19.—Is the uniform divorce law approaching?

Recent legal proceedings in several well-known families have made the need of a Federal divorce law seem imperative.

The National League of Women Voters, now in convention in Cleveland, has recognized the necessity for such legislation. Part of the programme of the convention includes discussion of the divorce problem and the adoption of resolutions to liberalize and simplify the laws surrounding it.

Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw, one of the New York members of the organization, announced to-day that not only divorce, but kindred subjects, pertaining to the protection of women and children, such as child labor laws, will be discussed at the convention.

"I thoroughly believe," she said today, "in a programme for liberalizing and unifying divorce laws.

"Part of our general plan for the codification of laws, and their unification, includes not only consideration of divorce laws, but those which affect children.

"This is a necessity now, as never before, in the United States. Every section of this country is closely bound by interconnections and our laws should be more uniform.

"Laws governing divorce should have dignity and humanity incorporated in them."

Further approval of the league's programme was expressed by a young woman lawyer, Miss Lucille Pugh, who agrees that the present system of marriage and divorce is inadequate and unjust.

"I believe that marriage should be looked upon as a civil contract which can be dissolved or abrogated when conditions change and when it is proper and right to do so," she said.

"The happiness of two people is the one thing on which the State must depend for its existence.

"And that happiness should be guarded. It is the State's duty to protect it.

"By standing in the way of more liberal divorce laws the State is not doing its duty. It is cutting its own roots thereby.

"But I would not be too lax. Such grounds as cruelty are often interpreted too leniently. A woman may say it is cruel if her husband does not kiss her when he leaves for business in the morning.

"Such a reason for divorce, if ever made one of the grounds, should be carefully defined.

"Divorce should be granted when two people find it impossible to be a help to each other. That is the whole idea.

"The State should not make it an obligation on either party to the unhappy marriage to resort to collusion.

"How could the laws be unified? I think if a constitutional amendment could be passed, making the law uniform, but leaving the enforcement of it to the State, it would be very satisfactory. Then people wouldn't have to go to a Federal court for a divorce, but to the State courts as usual. This would be a great protection to women and to children as well.

"I don't know how it would work out—if it would be easy to adjust or not. If not, then we ought to find some efficient way.

"One report, which may be incorrect, has it that the League of Women Voters would place two years as the period between marriage and divorce. This is too long. If people can't get along for two years it is a serious thing. I don't know whether that means that they want a woman to wait two years to get a divorce, or two years till she may re-marry after being divorced. In either case, it is too long.

Hard to Define Cruelty

"Many people, if cruelty were made a ground, would say that incompatability should be synonymous. It's easy to say that so many things represent cruelty.

"The point should be that if two can't honestly get along together the State that married them should give them relief.

"Women should have the custody of their children, I believe. That is woman's natural vocation anyway, the one she started out with.

"When a divorce is given to the father the child—if of tender years—is given to the mother. That is only right and just. Circumstances have so much to do with every case though. If a woman is wholly bad the child is better away from her, no matter how young.

"Let us be honest and fair and have sensible legislation.

"Health certificates with marriage licenses are a good idea. We should make marriage hard to achieve. Now it's hard only to be divorced, not to get married. The very young don't know their own minds and rush into disastrous marriages. They should be protected.

"But what good is to the State or to any individual to keep two people together who want to be apart?

"It's hypocrisy, nothing else!

'Our laws are not for the strong but for the weak. And woman should always be protected."

LOVE IS WARMEST WHERE IT'S COLDEST

It perhaps has not occurred to many that way, but James Oliver Curwood, the famous author for the statement that where the climate is the very coldest the human love becomes the very warmest. It has long been a common idea among people that the warm weather of the Latin countries is the most conductive to excess zeal in heart affairs and this belief seemed destined to persist indefinitely until Mr. Curwood got busy writing his series of intensely interesting stories of love and adventure of the far north. He has been living up pretty close to the North Pole and in his mingling with the people thereabouts he has gleaned quite a good deal of knowledge relative to their inclinations in mating. He announces that he sets forth his best demonstration in proof of his contentions in his latest photoplay "Nomads of the North," which will be presented at the Colonial theater tomorrow. Here is a case in fiction where all the rigors of a decidedly rigorous climate plus a lot of unsettled, uncivilized, open country combine to substantially thwart most any love affair without villainous men abetting in the least. But, as Mr. Curwood has built up his story — and logically, they say —naught is powerful enough in obstructionist policies to dampen the ardor of his far northern hero and heroine towards each other. And, they triumph, too. It still remains probable, however, that a vast majority of all the people will prefer to undergo their experiences in conflict with Dan Cupid nearer the equator although seeing the privations of love in a maze of indescribable difficulties is a genuine diversion. Hence no doubt, "Nomads of the North" will enjoy its full share of popularity.

"BEATS FIVE DOCTORS" WRITES J. L. MORGAN ELMORE, OHIO

April 29, 1918. I was taken very sick. Had four doctors at different times. They didn't know what ailed me. Finally I went to a Kidney Specialist. He examined the urine and pronounced it a bad case of Bright's Disease of the Kidneys," as my urine was half albumen. I asked him if he could cure me. He said "No." "No man could cure me," but gave me some medicine; but the medicine did me no good. From that time on I got worse. Then I saw a testimonial in the Toledo Blade, where San Yak had cured Bright's Disease. Then I bought two bottles of San Yak, took the medicine as directed. Before I had taken the second bottle, I saw an improvement. Then I bought a dozen bottles. I was sure the medicine was just what I wanted. I took one dozen bottles in all; and today I am a well man. As to my urine, it is perfect. I don't think there is a better medicine in the world today than San Yak; and you are welcome to the use of this letter. Sold at J. A. Ebert's, Elyria, Ohio.—Advt.

ALL ABOARD FOR ALASKA. LAND OF THE MIDNIGHT SUN!

Alaska's Sourdoughs are all expectation for a rumor has come up from the south that "The President is coming!" This means much to the old-timers who have not been "out" of the states in many years if is more than rumor if Congress adjourns in time. President Harding plans to use his first White House vacation for a visit to Alaska. Intending travelers bent for the same destination need not, however, fear that the presidential party will curtail their chances for booking passages for President and Mrs. Harding together with a few congenial companions, plan to make the trip on a battleship from Seattle.

The President's recent Panamanian trip converted him so thoroughly to the idea of seeing things for himself that he wants to gather first-hand information as to Alaska and its mighty potentialities. Alaskans are eager for the President to visit their country for they know that its resources need only be understood to start another development like that of the 1896 gold rush.

Travel to Alaska has increased enormously during the last decade and especially during the war period. For several seasons all available space on coast steamers plying between Seattle and Vancouver and Alaska has been booked long in advance of sailings. Late comers have begged steamship men to carry them any old way—even offering to sleep on deck—only get them to Alaska—Land of Promise—Land of Gold and Glaciers and Grizzlies.

Alaska has much to offer visitors. First there is the delightfully smooth voyage on the Inside Passage along the British Columbian coast, an ocean voyage minus ocean drawbacks. Then comes a picturesque coast line vieing in wild grandeur with Norway's fiords. Fancy is intrigued by the wierd totem poles at Alert Bay. Taku Glacier, a shimmering ice wall, a mile long and from 200 to 300 feet high, holds one spellbound as the ship glides silently by. A glimpse of Juneau shows a city of ups and downs. 'Tis said its site did not include enough level ground to build a house upon. Skagway is the gateway to a wondrous hinterland. A land riotous with snow-capped mountains, tumbling rapids, ice fields and glaciers fringed with gorgeous wild flowers, gold mines, good hunting, a mysterious Midnight Sun and colorful, wildly futuristic-like displays of aurora Borealis.

CONVENTION TO AID ERIN OPENS

CHICAGO, April 19.—Five thousand men and women, including every Irish leader of note in the United States, met here for the first national convention of the American association for the recognition of the Irish Republic, which will seek America's aid in Ireland's fight for separation from British rule.

The convention was called to order sharply at ten o'clock, the falling of the gavel being followed immediately by the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the convention en masse.

The convention began its real work after the invocation delivered by Monsignor P. J. O'Donnell, when the report of the credentials committee and the appointment of the committee on rules followed.

Following other committee appointments an address on "The Irish Question As An American Question," was delivered by Harry J. Boland, former secertary to President De Valera of the Irish Republic.

"America's honor, no less than Ireland's rights, demands that the government set up by the people of Ireland be recognized by your country for what it is—the government 'de jure and de facto' of the people of Ireland," Boland told the convention. "Shall your government conduct the business and policies affecting Ireland and America with the elected representatives of the Irish people duly accredited by an Irish parliament? Or shall they continue to receive the representative of the black and tans as the custodians of law and order in Ireland?

The struggle, Boland told the convention, has resolved itself into a question of finances and announced that the Irish Republic would again come to the people of the United States for a new loan.

"The final struggle is at hand," Boland said.

Boland exhorted the convention to "so organize the American association for recognition of the Irish Republic that when the call comes from Ireland for a new loan you will be prepared to supply $100,000,000, should Ireland ask it in the name of liberty."

Eight Per Cent and Safety You Won't Always Be Able to Get It

Every man working for wages demands the highest return he is able to obtain for the particular work he is doing.

Money—that which he receives for his work is his most important material possession. Some of this must be spent for the necessaries of life, some is spent for luxuries and some is held as surplus. Do you demand of your surplus that it earn you the highest wages obtainable with safety? Is your money working for you at lower than standard wages?

How are we to make any choice that is really worth while where our surplus may be employed profitably?

First.—By giving careful thought to the character and reputations of the men who are dominant in the enterprise. Have they been successful? Will they conduct the business in the interest of those who buy the Company's shares?

Second.—By considering the Earning Power of the business. Has the business the ability to make and pay its dividends? This is determined to a great extent by the character of the business.

Is is staple or is it dependent upon the whims of the public? If the latter, then its foundation is sand and may slip from under it, for the whim of the public is fickle, rapidly changing from one thing to another.

Finally.—There must be considered the "Future" of the business. Call the view of this "Future" what you will. "Speculation, Vision, Foresight, or Common Sense," it is a Prime Essential.

The opportunity now offered will not last. You cannot afford to let it slip by. It is up to you to Investigate without delay.

PRESIDENT DECLARES DISARMAMENT STAND

WASHINGTON, April 19.—President Harding Monday afternoon flatly announced his intention to take steps toward world disarmament, when he received a delegation of women representing the world disarmament committee who made a plea for world disarmament.

"I know that the government under this administration will take steps to bring about world disarmament," the president said, but he stated that this could not be done until peace had been declared with Germany.

BALL ACT IS DECLARED TO BE CONSTITUTIONAL

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The Ball act, regulating rents for the District of Columbua, was declared constitutional by the supreme court of the United States in a decision in which the court divided, five to four.

The opinion was read by Justice Holmes.

The law was enacted by congress as a war time measure to prevent rent profiteering and ejectment of tenants, who refused to pay exorbitant rentals or those who could find no other dwelling. The test case went to the supreme court of the United States on appeal from the district courts taken by Julius Block in a suit with Louis Hirsch.

Chief Justice White and Justice McKenna. Vandervanter and McReynolds dissented.

Oil Takes Drop

MARIETTA, April 19. — The downward sweep in oil prices which had been in progress for several months came to an abrupt end today when Pennsylvania Crude jumped 25 cents a barrel and four other grades made smaller advances. The following increases were announced this morning by refining companies with offices here:

Pennsylvania crude 25 cents to $3.25; Ragland 15 cents to $1.15; Cabell 10c to $1.96; Somerset 10c to $1.75; Somerset, light 20 cents to $2.00.

Today's price jump came as a surprise to local oil men, marking the first upturn of the year. Practically all oil development had ceased because of the downward movement of the market. Pennsylvania crude having dropped from $6.10 to $3.00 since the first of the year.

Oil operators believe today's jump marks the beginning of a slow but consistent movement upward in prices but the opinion is expressed that Pennsylvania must reach $4.00 a barrel before operations are resumed on an extensive scale.

Wrinkles Coming?

Here's the Answer

The skin can be brought back to its original plumpness and vigor by the following formula. An astonishing quick disappearance of wrinkles, little and big, crows' feet, and lines of age. It is simple and can be prepared in a few moments, by adding to half a pint of water one tablespoonful of glycerine and two ounces of eptol; obtained from your druggist. This takes years from your appearance, and is always sure and positive in its work if you will apply it liberally, every day

And If the Hair Is Thinning

Strengthening and enlarging the roots of the hair is one of the real secrets of forcing hair to grow, something which has heretofore not been fully realized. Merely stimulating the surface tissue of the scalp will not stimulate the hair growth to the extent desired. By the new method just mentioned hair can be forced to grow several inches a month. Hair will stop falling as if by magic. The new vigor of the hair will be quickly noticed, and all bald spots will be soon entirely filled out with new sprouts. This can all be easily obtained by the simple use of betaquinol, which can be secured at any drug store in the original one-ounce package. This can be mixed at home with a half pint of bay rum and a half pint of water, or with witch hazel, if you prefer. It contains no oil whatever.

To Cleanse Hair and Scalp

As to head-wash, you are advised against using soap or the many shampoos sold, because of the alkali they contain. This dries up hair secretions. Get a package of eggol at the drug store and dissolve a teaspoonful of it in half a cup of water. You can get enough eggol for twenty-five cents for a dozen or more head-washes. It is magic as a cleansing hair and scalp and does wonderfully in making hair grow.

JAP DIET VOTES ALMOST ONE HALF OF ENTIRE NATIONAL BUDGET TO UPKEEP OF NAVY

By DUKE N. PERRY,
(I. N. S. Staff Staff Correspondent)

TOKIO, April 19.—The 44th session of the Imperial Diet, termed mediocre during the first part of its work, will go into the history of Japan as a memoriable session. On one accomplishment or mistake, according as it shall be judged, will this meeting of Japan's representatives be classified as an important gathering. This one action was the voting of 762,000,000 yen, or 48.7 per cent of the national budget, for the improvement and upkeep of the Japanese army and navy. By thus voting, as the House of Peers did, by standing vote, just three days before the 44th session ended, the programme of naval expansion of the militaristic clique of Japan was upheld. By this vote there was reason given for the charge that the budget, as adopted, was the most militaristic ever adopted by any nation in times of peace."

The Diet ended its deliberations on Saturday, March 26, and Sunday March 27, the official closing ceremonies were held in the House of Peers. One week afterward concerted action on the overthrow of the Hara ministry had begun. Action which may bring the fight for disarmament, as against the disarmament idea, to a head, may result this summer in the installation of a more militaristic cabinet, or may by freak chance for all time the adherents of the army-and-navy increase programme.

Impeachments Asked.

The present session has been notable in that three attempts have been made to impeach the Hara ministry, all of them failing, while several minor attempts have been made at at impeachment of one of the ministers. The last attempt came with the minister of education who, his enemies assert, has allowed his branch of the government to be sacrificed for the departments of war and the navy. This attempt, like all others made against the government majority, was voted down. It was notable, however, that the last vote was defeated by a smaller majority than any of those that preceded it. While the first attempt at impeachment of Premier Hara and his cabinet was so overwhelmingly defeated that it was hard to find the group that opposed him, the last one was defeated by a much smaller majority.

Disarmament Party Grows.

Mr. Ozaki, independent member of the Lower House has come out of the Diet fight the outstanding member who represents the people of the Empire. His fight for disarmament that has been carried into other parts of Japan, of which has been the means of alienating certain sections of the government, has been borne out by the following statistics, published in the Yorozu Shimbun, Tokio daily. The figures represent the sums paid for military expansion annually, and each is given in units of 1,000 yen:

Fis. Year	Military Expenditure	Ratio to Total Natl Expenditure Per cent
1893	22,822	27
1897	110,542	49.4
1903	33,002	33.3
1907	198,316	32.9
1913	191,885	33.5
1921	761,781	48.7

Women Recognized.

The things done most recently by the Diet include: Passage of bill to allow women to attend political gatherings; passage of bill to exclude liquor from houses of government; passage of budget of 1,562,000,000 yen, of which 761,781,000 yen or 48.7 per cent, goes to army and navy combined, passage of government rice and silk laws.

California Claims Up.

Practically every matter affecting Japan's relations with the United States was taken up. The California claims came in in season; there was talk of the plans of the republicans to command respect, if not more, in the Pacific ocean territory, the enlargement of Pearl Harbor, Hawaii; of the furthur fortification of Guam; the Yap controversy, Korea, Siberia, and the possibility of American interferance in China—all were taken up and aired by the opposition who would be sadly handicapped if the "problem" of American "aggrandizement" were taken from it. All were carefully answered by the ministers, who maintained their positions well and firmly stated that America and other nations would not be handled by Diet action.

Cabinet Fall Assured.

The general opinion in Tokio at the end of the session was that a cabinet fall must come soon and that the issue of the increase in expenditures for army and navy might force it, when the plans for the new budget, to be submitted to the 45th session next winter, were taken up. Count Yamamoto, a chief of the navy group would be one most acceptable to the group that will fight to the end that the Japanese navy may not be overlooked. Count Yamamotc will be remembered as the former premier. If the navy forces win a decisive victory in the preliminary skirmishes this summer, Yamamoto will be a likely candidate for premier. He is not the choice of the combined opposition parties as they stand today, this position today being filled by Viscount Kato, loyal worker against Hara, and one who has maintained thru the entire Diet this year his rank as chief of the opposition. How Kato stands with the hidden forces of Japanese government which have their center at the villa of Prince Yamagata, at Odawara, is another question, and it is quite possible that in this test he would fail.

To the spectator in Tokio the forty-fourth session of the Imperial Diet has not been altogether satisfactory. It has been, despite a few enlivening demonstrations at times, a dry carrying out of events which have been long prepared by a controlled ministry. And that ministry militaristic enough in itself, may be followed by one expressly chosen to outdo the one which has gone before. The great failures, as acknowledged, partially at least, by Premier Hara himself are education and suffrage. The great successes may all be conceded to the military.

CENTURY PARK PAVILION O. K.; READY FOR LEASING

LORAIN — Century park dancing pavilion is again in good condition, according to Service Director L. A. Snell, who last night asked council to pass an ordinance authorizing him to advertise for bids for leasing the city pavilion, which was done.

It will be recalled that more than a year ago the Century park dancing pavilion was condemned by building inspectors as being unsafe for use as a public dance hall. The place was immediately ordered closed and the city has but recently completed repair work on the big hall, which has enabled the building inspector to put his O. K. on the structure.

Rheumatism Relief--25c.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets), Are Helping Thousands Who Tried Expensive Things Without Result. It's Guaranteed.

There are three vital processes of human existence,—the digestion of food, the extraction of nourishment from it and the elimination of waste. Poor digestion and assimilation means failure to derive full nourishment from food and that in turn often means impoverished blood, weakness, anemia, etc. Poor elimination means an accumulation of waste matter which poisons the body, lowers vitality, decreases the power of resistance to disease and leads to the development of many serious ills.

Rheumatism,—due to some interference with the process of elimination, failure to get rid of certain body poisons,—cannot be expected to yield to any medicine that fails to correct the condition responsible for it. Could any reasonable person expect to rid himself of rheumatic pain as long as rheumatic poison is allowed to remain in the body.

Think of this. It explains the success of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) in so many cases where other medicines have failed. Thousands are using NR Tablets every day and getting relief. Why pay five or ten times as much for uncertain things? A 25c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets), containing enough to last twenty-five days,—must help you, must give you prompt relief and satisfactory benefit or cost you nothing.

Nature's Remedy is not only for the relief of rheumatism. It improves digestion, tones the liver, regulates kidney and bowel action, improves the blood and cleanses the system. You've tried the expensive medicines and doctors, now make the real test. You'll get results this time. Just try it. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION PLEASED WITH SENATOR BURKE'S ADDRESS

ELYRIA—The Lorain County W. C. T. U. Institute which convened in the Church of Christ April 15th, Elyria, Ohio, was a success in every detail. The forenoon was given up to a county executive meeting and was in charge of the County President Nellie M. Hill. Mrs. Hill gave a very interesting report of the state mid-year convention which she had recently attended in Akron.

The county treasurer's report was most satisfactory. The report showed that $2,100 had been paid from Lorain county W. C. T. U, to the Jubilee fund to assist in carrying on the different departments of work, namely, Americanization work, child welfare, women in industry, health and morality, S. T. I. work in public schools, law enforcement, legislative work and world prohibition. The Elyria organization has just sent, aside from what they have paid into the county, $100 to the China Near East sufferers.

It was voted by the executive to place Mrs. Hill's name on the national treasury to assist in their work.

At noon a delicious luncheon was served in the dining room of the church by the Elyria W. C. T. U. About 60 enjoyed their hospitality.

The afternoon session was full of interest and a large attendance was present from all parts of the county. Devotionals were in charge of Mrs. Lockard. The welcome address was given by Mrs. F. H. Phelps and was responded to by Miss Harriett Andrews of Columbia. A duet by Mrs. Ernshaw and Mrs. Stickler were very much enjoyed. Mrs. I. G. Webster of Oberlin, county superintendent of child welfare gave a most interesting and instructive talk on that department. She urged that the forces that are interested in the work unite and do something worth while. She said that certainly the W. C. T. U. was doing the most aggressive work for the welfare of the children of any organization she knew anything about.

Senator J. Frank Burke was then introduced and certainly drew another long mark in his favor thru the excellence of his address. In referring to the "child welfare" department work, he said that if the boys and girls are well looked after the young men and women wage earners in the industrial world will take care of itself, that it is our business to do right and to assume all the responsibility and value that goes with doing right. Senator Burke complimented the women of the W. C. T. U. upon the splendid legislative work done by them. He referred to some of the bills that are now pending in the state legislature, which are being sponsored by them, such as Bible and public schools, McCoy bill, the minimum wage bill and the bill regarding the censorship of motion pictuers.

The senator was asked the question, whether he thought the W. C. T. U. was needed any longer? He said he was glad that the question was asked. He replied, "In regard to organizations having representatives at Columbus, do you know the W. C. T. U. and the Anti-Saloon League were the only forces having lobbyists that have always watched and stayed by the legislature. Because it is a Christian organization—Christian conceived and Christian run with no ulterior motive other than the good of the human race. Mr. Burke said, in speaking of clubs, I have no criticism to offer at all. They are all, or nearly all, organized for the good purpose and do good work, but he said, none of them have ever accomplished the great work for the uplift of humanity that the W. C. T. U. has accomplished because you are a band of Christian women and have stood for right when it was not as popular to work for temperance as it is now. He said, "I had rather go down to seeming defeat, knowing that I was being backed by such an organization rather than achieve what might seem victory by compromising with sin." He said, "Your work as a W. C. T. U. organization is not finished and never will be as long as sin and crime abounds."

The body rose and gave Senator Burke a vote of thanks and the white ribbon salute for his splendid address.

Mrs. Frances E. Fuller of Madison, state treasurer, was then introduced and addressed the institute as follows, in her happy and pleasing manner:

She spoke of the ideals and plans of the W. C. T. U. during the coming year, introducing her subject as a subject touching all women, the spring housecleaning — cleaning up the atmosphere of the soul, the mental spring cleaning and clearing up the house of endeavor, energy and helpfulness to those about us.

We come to the spring cleaning, of our homes, our sheds, and also should consider brushing away the cobwebs of selfishness, prepare a garden of the soul in which to plant crocus beds of helpfulness and service, make life happier for others. She spoke of a disease which is somewhat prevalent at times, "that of hardening of the domestic arteries"—which attacks some women—who cannot see beyond the round of domestic cares in her own home. She very aptly illustrated her point by quoting the sympathy felt for Mrs. D, who could do nothing but iron on Tuesday, whose mending kept her entirely occupied Thursday etc. She missed the best concert of the season because of some household duty, and never spoke of any interest other than how hard she must work. She said that the women's philanthropic societies covet Mrs. D, for her influence for good in the community in which she lives, as well as for her own sake.

The campaign for a million members was spoken of, and the remark made that the W. C. T. U. could then be millionaires. The work of the organization is being carried on not only for the sake of our county, state and nation, but that the whole world may be made healthier, happier and a more contented place to live in. There are many and varied plans to be followed—there is much work to be done as has been accomplished. There are subtle reports being published in many of the newspapers regarding the prohibition laws being failures, to be refuted and disproved, there is child welfare work to be carried on, educational and missionary work all over the world to be done. The test of the W. C. T. U. woman in carrying on her present and future line of work and endeavor, will prove whether she has enlisted for life or just for a temporary existence. The many departments of work demanding our attention, said Mrs. Fuller, is sufficient reason why every W. C. T. U. woman should follow the slogan of our organization, namely, "We must carry on."

The afternoon session closed with the reports of committees and prayer by Mrs. Fuller.

The evening session was none the less interesting. After a song, followed by prayer by Rev. Burner, a male quaraette consisting of Messrs. Squire, Holcomb, Carpenter and Vibber, rendered two selections, which were highly appreciated. Little Violet Reisinger, of Grafton, gave a musical reading, "The Star Spangled Banner," accompanied by Mrs. Strickler.

Mrs. Hill in a few well chosen words then introduced Mrs. Fuller, the speaker of the evening who took her topic, "Law Enforcement," and she certainly handled the subject in an able manner. She referred to the persistent work of the brewers and liquor forces to violate the law but said she, if we keep our temperance fires burning bright never again will the brewers' fires be kindled in these United States.

Judge Webber was called to the platform and paid a glowing tribute to the workers of the W. C. T. U. and spoke touchingly of the faithful work of the county president, Mrs. Hill, who had charge of the campaign work in Lorain county for the last three years.

After the closing song, every one went to their homes feeling it had ben a profitable gathering. The programme committee with Mrs. F. E. Schriver as chairman have great reasons to be pleased.

MRS. JENNESS TELLS WOMEN

Who Are Weak, Run-down And Nervous How Vinol Perfectly Restored Her Health

MRS. GEO. E. JENNESS

Sherburne, N. Y.—"I suffered from a weak, run-down, nervous condition, and Vinol has completely restored my health and strength so I do all my work. I heard about Vinol through an old gentleman friend of mine. The doctor thought he would never be well again. Finally a doctor from New York came here and told him he did not know of anything that would help him better than Vinol. He began to take it, and in less than a week he was out at his work. That is the reason I began to take Vinol, and with such perfect success. My husband and nephew are both taking it and my nephew said to me this morning, "It seems good to feel so much better and have a dandy appetite."—Mrs. George E. Jenness, Sherburne.

For all run-down, nervous, anaemic conditions, there is no remedy like Vinol. $1.00 a bottle, guaranteed.—Adv.

"YET" meant dozens of experiments with shades for the wall brackets and with the exquisite floor and table lamps.

The living room should have been perfect. But when she compared it with her neighbor's rooms—and what critics some of them are—something was wrong. It wasn't so comfortable looking as theirs. It didn't carry that air of refined elegance which comes from cleverness and good taste.

Light—that was the trouble. Small patches of illumination in surrounding darkness. Here and there a bright light shining directly into one's eyes. The trouble was with the fixtures or the strength of the bulbs. But which?

ELYRIA Y. M. C. A. WINS SECOND PLACE IN LARGE NATIONAL ATHLETE RACE

Only 25 Points Behind Fresno, Cal., Which Won First Place—Elyria Easily Led in Ohio—Over Hundred Institutions and 4,683 Athletes Participated in Event

ELYRIA—The seniors of the physical department of the local Y. M. C. A., have just received word that they have won second place in the Senior Hexathlon held the two weeks of March, 12th to 26th.

The Senior Hexathlon, an athletic contest which consists of six different events and is run in all the Y. M. C. A's in the United States and Canada at the same time, is held every year. The winner receives a bronze plaque with their pictures engraved upon it and their names etched on.

The Elyria boys should feel well pleased over their standing and it shows that with a little training our boys could put up a good fight for first honors as they only lost by twenty-five points.

One hundred and one associations took part with a total of 4,683 different participants, which shows that the local boys had their hands full in winning second place. Teams were entered from all the large cities and nearly every state in the union was represneted.

Elyria had the highest average of any association in Ohio. The standings of the Ohio associations according to their averages are: Elyria, 496 points; Canton, 438 points, Dayton 398 points and stood 38th in the whole contest.

The local boys are planning on copping the honors next year and according to their record this year, they stand a good chance of doing so.

Fresno, California won first place with a total score of 3,013 points.

DEMPSEY MAY TAKE RETURN BOUT WITH BRENNAN, DAME RUMOR SAYS

By JACK VEIOCK,
I. N. S. Sporting Editor

NEW YORK, April 18. — Jack Dempsey is marking time these days, waiting for his coming battle with Georges Carpentier to roll around, July 2.

Since he won the title Dempsey has done a lot of marking time. His bouts with Billy Miske and Bill Brennan have been the only ones of any importance in which he has appeared, and Manager Kearns has often lamented the fact that opponents have been so scarce.

Dempsey will not be such a lonesome champion in the future, however, if present indications do not go amiss. There are several heavyweights eager to mingle with Jack who are merely waiting until after the Carpentier bout.

If Dempsey beats the Frenchman—and he will be a ringside favorite—he will have only a short time to rest up before he must start training for his Labor Day affair with Jess Williard. Tex Rickard has this match sewed up and means to go through with it.

In addition to Willard, there is talk of a return bout between Dempsey and Bill Brennan. Fred Fulton is also on the trail of the champ, and Bob Martin and Bob Roper are coming on. Harry Greb is another battler who insists that he wants a chance at Dempsey, but it would seem that in the face of Greb's recent attitude toward a match with Tommy Gibbons he must be joshing the public.

Prospects Are Many

Greb was offered a bout with Gibbons by Dave Driscoll, the demon Jersey City promoter. Driscoll wanted Sir Tom and the Pittsburgh battler the worst way and was prepared to give them a liberal slice of the gate. But Greb couldn't see it. He told Driscoll he would rather have Gibbons in Pittsburgh, where "we could draw much better."

Still on the trail of Greb, Brennan, Martin and the champion himself, Tommy Gibbons goes on his way, merrily knocking off opponents the promoters are able to set for him. He has dispgosed of three men in four rounds in his last three bouts up to this writing, beating Al Reich in one, Paul Sampson in two and Sergeant Norcross in one. With such a heavyweight championship prospect as Gibbons on and the Carpentier and Willard matches in view, the curly-seaded champion will have an opportunity to make quite a profitable thing out of his title.

Johnny Buff, who recently knocked out Abe Attel Goldstein in two rounds, and laid claim to the American flyweight title, is eager for the coming of Johnny Wilde, who is expected to invade the United States again in the near future.

Wilde is coming to America for the purpose of getting Pete Herman into the ring again. He believes he can offset the knockout Herman scored at his expense in London. He would also like to take on as many Yankee boxers as the promoters can dig up for him and he will find Buff ready to oblige him.

Buff is no chicken. He is nearly thirty-five years of age and has a sizable family over in Jersey. But he is every inch a battler and he seldom, if ever, fails to give the fans a big run for their dough. He has proven to the satisfaction of his admirers that he is a legitimate flyweight, for he was strong and fast in his bout with Goldstein, after making 110 pounds at 2 o'clock.

THE FIRST BIG BALL GAME OF THE SEASON

LORAIN—What promises to be one of the most interesting baseball games of the season will be that on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock when the Lorain Chronicle-Telegram newsboys play the Times-Herald nine.

The battle will be pulled off on the West City grounds and the lads are practicing fo the contest. The C.-T. lads say that they are confident that they will put the bug on the opposition and that they will run up a score that will make the T.-H. boys look sick."

Slivers of the Diamond

More famed as a comedian than a ball player is Nick Altrock, coach of the Washington Senators. For Nick, a natural born comedian, has kept hundreds of thousands of baseball fans amused with his antics during his many years on the diamond. He is a real pantomime artist, and is as much of a drawing card as the rest of the Washington club combined. His one-man argument is a classic enjoyed by fans in all cities of the American League circuit and his tight rope performance along the foul line is also the work of an artist. Altrock, in his day, was a great pitcher. Though just a comedian to the fans he is a professor of baseball, knowing every angle of the game from a to z. One of his most important duties is keeping the Washington payers in good humor when things are not breaking just right for the team.

HOLLEY-KROHN TEAM MEMBERS TO PLAY OTHERS

LORAIN — Members of the Holley-Krohn baseball nine will hold a practice session on the city field Wednesday night. Manager Adams of the Clothiers expects to have a real scrimmage and will try to stage a game between members of his team.

Things are looking pretty bright for this baseball nine and it appears that they will come out of the season on the long end of the winning scores. Adams has added to the roster of his squad some of the best baseball material in this section of the state and will lose no time starting active hostilities.

A NEW IDEA IN SURF RIDING

Hawaii has started something. It is a frequent sight now to see the bathers along the Pacific Coast attired in the new Hawaiian bathing costume a one-piece suit with a few dangles. This young lady delights in taking her bulldog along while riding the surf.

ALL GRAMMAR SCHOOLS TO BE IN TRACK MEET WEDNESDAY

LORAIN — Members of every grammar school in the city will take to the cinder paths tomorrow afternoon in the opening of the grammar schools' track meet.

Hundreds of youthful students of these grade schools will participate for honrs. Medals will be presented to the winners of the contests.

The city field will be the scene of the activities of Garden, Fairhome, Brownell and Harrison schools, while Garfield, Lincoln, Charlestown, Lowell and Oakwood schools will compete at Oakwood park.

Preliminary events of the school meet will be staged this week, the decision for championship honors will come about from the final events, to be run by the winners of the preliminary contests, Wednesday, April 27. The final events will be staged at the city field.

Activities will start at 4:30 under the supervision of George Daniels, director of athletics at the Lorain High school.

LORAIN EAGLE SOCCER TEAM PLAY MAGYARS ON SUNDAY

LORAIN — Lorain Eagles' Soccer team, which was handed a neat lacing in the hands of the Firestone aggregation of Akron at Akron last Sunday, when handicapped by the absence of two star players, will reopen hostilities next Sunday when they take on the Magyars of Cleveland at Luna Park, Cleveland.

The local stars have been in a winning stride since the opening of the spring season and could have kept their average among the leaders only for the absence of players in their recent contests.

Officials of the local team will call a meeting of all the players in the office of the John Patterson Construction Company tomorrow night. All members of the team are requested to be on hand.

Tagging The Bases

(By International News Service)

The weather man is leading both leagues.

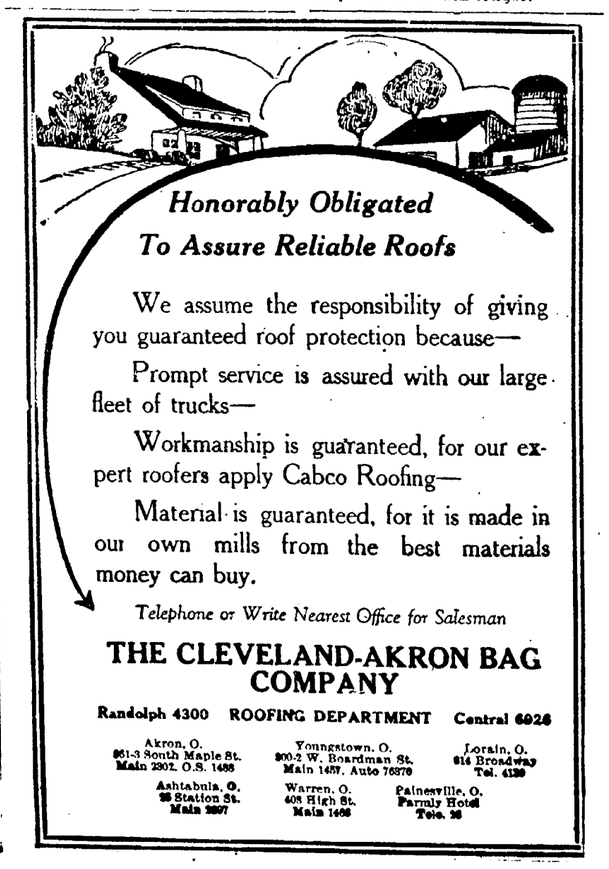

Five games were postponed Monday on account of rain.

A Sisler triple and a "baby doll" of a single by Jacobson gave the Browns a victory over the White Sox. The Brown-White Sox affair was something of a pitching debate between Urban Shocker and Dick Kerr.

Lefty Tyler was wild but the Cubs bunched hits behind him off Zinn and Glasner and defeated the Pirates.

Luque pitched one of the best games so far this season when he shut out the Cardinals with six scattered hits at Cincinnati.

A MATTER OF CIVIC COURTESY

On Wednesday this city will in a measure be hostess to a considerable number of prominent, representative men from her neighboring big sister city, Cleveland. Some one hundred from all professions and vocations have banded themselves together in a splendid musical organization and Elyria is to be favored with their appearance at that time.

Most of these men we imagine come from towns not any larger than ours—in many cases not so large, and as their trip may in some degree suggest a visit " back home" to them, we hope that they will find the same warmth and cordiality and welcome here that would be afforded them in their respective home communities.

We feel sure we voice the sentiment of this community in extending to them our heartiest greetings and best wishes for a full measure of success.

HOW TO GET WHAT YOU WANT

The way to get what you want is to WANT it.

That sounds simple, almost puerile.

Yet it expresses a fundamental truth of human nature, or of psychology, if you prefer the word.

The measure of your success is determined by the strength of your desire. You can get practically anything you want, if your desire to get it is strong enough.

Placidly wishing for things will not get you anywhere. Hoping, longing, dreaming will serve you better.

But an ardent, overwhelming desire—of the proper intensity—will carry you to your goal.

Your every thought and action will be guided and inspired by the vital impulse of desire. If your desire is to make money, then ideas, plans, schemes for earning and saving will flock into your mind.

Ways of making money will be discovered which would have remained unknown to you without that secret, powerful desire within you to stimulate every faculty.

If your desire is to be influential as a public speaker, as a writer, or if you have other worthy ambitions, you positively can attain them if your desire is strong enough.

You can be anything that you want to be. The human brain is a mysterious and marvelous substance. We do not wholly understand it. But some of its unexplained powers we know. It is not necessary for all of us to study and experiment in connection with the subject. Sufficient for us it is to know the facts which have been established, without the technicalities of science entering into our consideration.

The way to get what you want is to WANT it—to WANT it with all your might. Accept that statement without argument. Make it part of your philosophy. And note how you climb toward your selected goal.

GENERAL WOOD'S PHILIPPINE TRIP

An entirely new Philippine policy may result from the inspection trip of General Leonard Wood to the Far East. The attitude of the Wilson administration was that the United States should get rid of the Philippines as quickly as possible. Mr. Wilson's theory was that the Filipinos were almost ready for independence, and he sent over a governor general, one Francis Burton Harrison, whose mind has trailed along with Mr. Wilson's no matter what the facts might be. In his latest report Mr. Harrison stated he was convinced that the stable government required by congress has already been established and that the natives are ready for complete self-government. After a long eulogy on the Filipinos and his own administration, Mr. Harrison does admit that many Americans in Manila are opposed to independence for the Islands, but he dismisses this with the comment that it is a "survival of the old European theory that investments in a far distant colony can only be assured by the military arm."

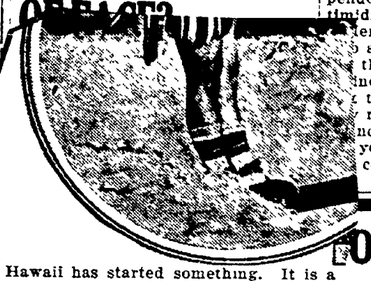

Mr. Wilson was successful in having a Filipino independence bill passed by the senate, but it was defeated in the house by a close vote. Without congressional authorization, both Mr. Wilson and Mr. Baker assured the Filipinos in 1919 that they were about to be given their independence. That was merely another instance in which Mr. Wilson traslated his own opinion as the will of the American people.

General Wood goes to the Philippines for a double purpose—to make a complete investigation of the Philippine situation as regards the question of independence, and to obtain a comprehensive report on the military and strategic position of the United States in the Far East. The two are, of course related to a considerable extent.

In the last few years our position in the Pacific has become of greatly increased importance. Our Pacific policy must remain a permanent part of our foreign relations. In that quarter lie, at present some of our most difficult diplomatic problems. It is believed General Wodd will recommend that Manila Bay be made a strong naval base, fully equipped with aircraft, submarines, mines and destroyers.

If it should be found inadvisable to extend independence to the islands in the near future, steps will be taken to restore finacial stability. The uncertainty of whether the United States was to withdraw has caused investors to be timid. As a result, both business and local government are seriously handicapped. It is considered possible that this nation may issue a formal statement of intention to retain the islands for a certain period of years. Such an assurance would be a guarantee of stability for those who wish to invest capital there.

WHY YOUR NOSE IN MIDDLE OF FACE?

Hawaii has started something. It is a bathers along the Pacific Coast attired in me a one-piece suit with a few dangles king her bulldog along while riding th

On Advertising

Noses are not accidents.

They are high-signs which reveal the past and unfold the future. Wherever you find one of these facial guides you may be sure thought has been at work.

The larger the nose the plainer the facts. Ability, imagination, concentration, analysis, construction and execution are all indicated in the area-occupying nose.

Nature planned the nose in the middle of the face for a good reason. She wanted to indicate capacity, or lack of capacity so plainly that no one could ever truthfully say they were fooled.

And no one is fooled by a nose, except its owner (now and then); but that does not matter, because some big nose is always just around the corner waiting to prove it ability.

It announces its power to create benefit for itself and others, instead of leaving that golden quality to the mercies of chance.

It is important, this other nose—highly important. It either makes or breaks possibility.

We see this nose in many places—in newspapers, in magazines, on billboards, in street cars, on placards—everywhere minds peer and eyes see.

When it is a forceful nose, we notice it particularly. We can't help doing so, because it challenges our attention.

We look at it and think about it and weigh its advantages (to ourselves). And ultimately, if we are favorably impressed, we act in response to its proportions.

The name of this nose is Advertising and—

Advertising is the nose of business!

Why were windows put in stores? To be hung with blinds.

Why does a fruit dealer rip off the cover of a box and thereby expose luscious oranges, or red-cheek d apples It really does not matter what he shows so long as it is good and tempting.

Why does the bootblack keep their own shoes till it requires spoked glasses to look them in the face?

All act for one reason, the same reason—to display wares! All kinds of Wares, to be sure; but all saleable Wares and everyone of them bidding for the notice they deserve from human eyes—in the stores, in the street, outdoors, indoors everywhere desire stalks, open to persuasion in matters which concern it.

Your neighbors—your friends—your competitors—all profit by their knowledge of advertising. They read the advertisements daily in their newspapers—and buy.

A hidden diamond does not shine. It can't. It has no light to bring out its worth.

So with merchandise. It moves only when its quality is known.

Now, since it is obviously impossible for all merchandise to expose to individuals singly their separate wares, however ingenious merchants may be, they must employ the only alternative open to notice for their products. That alternative is —

Advertising.

By this means they are able to inform. They are able to convince They are able to awaken interest and fan it into action. They are able to accomplish the same result as the store window, the fruit dealer, the bootblack. In short, they are able to sell their products to a circle which widens every time they address it with comparatively little trouble to themselves and with results as positive as warmth after sunshine.

Advertising is the business nose which indicates capacity, to do things, to create new opportunities, to spread benefit through making itself chief informant to all who wish to learn.

When women see that nose in the daily paper they acknowledge by their glance the strength of noses to impress character readers They acknowledge further by examining it in detail, that they wish to find out all they can about it in order that they may profit most from it.

Now, of all times, is the time when business men are telling it again, are keeping on telling it till it is becoming as familiar to human ears as many well known advertising slogans.

Men of dimensions are not hesitating. They are stepping forforward and showing by their gait they are neither afraid of nor dependent upon the doubts of the timid.

Merchants and manufacturers who are now advertising are showing the whole world that their business noses are forceful and that the mourners' bench is a seat they respectfully decline to occupy. And because this is true it will pay you to read advertising closely and constantly.

WORLD TRADE CONFERENCE IN MAY

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, Apr. 19—Announcement was made today by the National Association of manufacturers that it will hold a conference of ambassadors and ministers on world trade at its 26th annual convention at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, New York City, May 16, 17, and 18, next, when ambassadors, ministers and commercial representatives of more than thirty nations participating.

Secretary of State Hughes will open the conference on the afternoon the afternoon of Tuesday, May 17, unless some unforeseen circumstance prevents his leaving Washington at the time, while other officials high in international commerce and trade will make addresses upon the various problems now facing the United States in the development of its foreign trade.

Premier World Trade Meet.

This important gathering which will be the first of its kind ever held in this country, if not in the world, has been arranged in order that representatives of other nations may have an opportunity to explain to the men most intimately concerned in financing and extending our foreign trade how the constructive forces of the United States may be co-ordinated best to serve the needs of the world. There will be discussions of the best methods to meet the demands of Europe and other countries for raw materials and manufactured materials and to extend the credit that is so essential. The National Association of manufatcurers comprises 5,000 manufacturing enterprises, which produce more than 75 per cent of the entire manufacturing output of the nations and this convention will give their members an opportunity to obtain the foreign viewpoint direct for the first time in their history.

The conference will be presided over by Stephen C. Mason, president of the National Association of Manufacturers. It will be conducted in five sessions, running from Tuesday afternoon through to Wednesday night when the annual banquet of the National Association of Manufacturers will conclude occasion. There will be a summary of the American viewpoint on the last day by three men present to discuss the subject. Each session will be devoted to a particular group of nations and each will have as an honorary chairman one of the ambassadors from that group of nations.

Thirty-four Nations Accept

Formal and definite acceptances have been received from ambassador and ministers of 34 countries, while at least three other nations will be represented by their commercial staffs in the absence of the ambassador or the minister from the United States at the time of the convention. It is more than probable that every single country with a representative in Washington will be enrolled as a participant. The countries whose ambassadors or ministers have accepted and which will be fully represented, sofar received, include Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Bulgaria, Chile, China, Columbia, Costa Rica, Cuba, Czecho-Slovakia, Denmark, Dominican Republic Ecuador, Finland, France, Great Britain, Greece, Guatemala, Italy, Japan, Netherlands, Nicaragua, Norway, Panama, Peru, Poland, Persia, Portugal, Rumania, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and Vensuela.

To be Educational Meet.

Coincidental with the conference every facility will be placed at the disposal of the distinguished group of foreign representatives to make known the particular trade possibilities and developments of their countries to the individual members of the association and the delegates to the convention. A special information section will be set apart where each country may have on exhibit special literature or special information which will be for the inspection of the delegates and proper arrangements will be made for sending this special information to any manufacturer who seeks it.

In making the announcement Mr. Mason, president of the association, said:

"The National Association of Manufacturers, as the largest organization of actual producers in the world, realizes the responsibilities as an agency which can contribute materially toward solving the acute economic problems of the world. The fundamental necessity is to meet the needs of Europe in raw and manufactured materials and machinery, so that she can take up again her productive activities without assuming an intolerable burden of immediate obligations.

America the Creditor Nation

"American manufacturers alone can met these needs on bases of credit which will enable Europe and rest of world to resume their interdependent commerce and thus restore employment and its consequent increased consumption power. American financial interests have familiarized themselves with world problems insofar as the financing of foreign commerce has been concerned, but the manufacturer himself has lacked a broad intimate knowledge of the necessities of the situation. Therefore he has failed to understand why he should exert all of his ingenuity and resources in meeting the needs of the foreign buyer.

"What permanent committees will result from the conference of ambassadors and ministers I am not prepared to state, but I believe that when the conference is ended we shall find that we have taken a long steps toward solving many questions which must be solved before we can hope to readjust the complicated social and economic mechanism of the world."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of the Chronicle-Telegram:

The article in your issue of the 11th of March about Mrs. Carrie Barbour Galyon, who declares herself to be the successor of Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, is likely to convey erroneous impressions to persons who are not Christian Scientists. Mrs. Eddy never said that there must be a leader after she passed on. It was her teaching that no person will or can take her place (Retrospection and Iintrospection, page 70; The First Church of Christ Scientist and Miscellany, pages 346-347, both by Mrs. Eddy.)

Mrs. Carrie Barbour Galyon became an avowed Christian Scientist at Knoxville, Tenn She became a member of our branch there and a member of The Mother Church. She went to Boston about two years ago, but was known to only a very few Christian Scientists there until in January, 1920, when she made a public announcement that she had been chosen by God to be Mrs. Eddy's successor. An eastern paper lent its columns to her purpose at that time and since then she has succeeded in getting some newspaper notoriety now and then. At the time of the alleged revelation to herself that she was to be the new Christian Science leader, she withdrew from membership in the Knoxville church and in The Mother Church. She published an announcement some time ago to the effect that she had written a book. It has not yet been published but she has offered it to various publishers and still hopes to issue it.

The deflection from Christian Science of Mrs. Galyon is a very unimportant incident to which an exaggerated importance has been given by some newspaper man who has regarded her activities as adapted to his purpose.

Remember Your Grandmother's Copper Kettle?

How she prized it? And how she used it for years and years? And brought it out only on special occasions?

What would she have thought of a copper washtub? Probably that it was too good to be true. But it isn't!

BlueBird

Buy Coal NOW!

Do you realize the production of Bituminous Coal is now at the lowest point in eight years, and steadily decreasing? This is due to lack of buying. There can be but one answer to this: With the present condition of railroads in making no repairs to equipment, car supply will be short if everyone waits and orders at once. This will mean short car supply and high prices.

These are facts which will be all too serious in a month or two.

Call us for our low April prices on Hard Coal, Boulets, Pocahontas, Kentucky or Sedalia Lump.
